Rockets fly from Cory school

Approximately 35 Cory Elementary School students shared the feelings U.S. astronauts face every launch time...when they discovered only seven of their 10 rockets fired on schedule last week.

Principal Phyllis Adkins said extremely damp and humid weather conditions thwarted the blast-offs of three of the rockets on Monday June 14 by dampening the mini-space crafts' filaments.

But despite the early afternoon failures, Andy Lazar, the space age commander borrowed from Electronic Data Systems (EDS) of Romulus, and his Cory crew successfully launched the last seven rockets.

The rocket firings climaxed a month-long training period that Lazar and other members of his EDS volunteers offered for Vernita Gilkey's fifth-grade class.

The young science students built the rockets from special kits, viewed actual NASA films, heard an astronaut's wife speak and took part in the actual rocket launchings.

Adkins said the rocket program was one of two science projects that EDS technical volunteers offered the students for the first time this year.

She praised EDS for their initial Partners for Education effort, citing the fact the company provided 20 mentors and tutors two hours every week during the project period.

A second project conducted by EDS science professionals at the school was a massive frog dissection program.

"The students first studied the human anatomy," Adkins said, "and then viewed films on frogs as a comparison. Romulus High School biology teacher Jim Orme joined in the effort as the young grade schoolers took part in a technical frog dissection effort usually reserved for junior and senior high school students.

The EDS projects created a lot of healthy educational discussions both in school and at home this year, the principal said.

Not to be outdone, next year students will be treated to a NASCAR project that will seek to solve race track problems and a JASON undersea project that will allow students to symbolize searches for sunken treasures, explore sea floors and view various sea life.

Will public library be forced to close?

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The long-awaited decision on whether a temporary home can be found for the Romulus Public Library may be answered on June 28, City Treasurer Jim Napiorkowski revealed Monday.

Napiorkowski will speak before the Romulus Community School Board in an effort to get permission to use the gym at the old Mount Pleasant School as a temporary library for 11 months.

If the request is rejected, Napiorkowski hinted that the library may be forced to close down for that period.

When Napiorkowski and Librarian Diane Hazen last spoke at a May 18 meeting of the school board, board Vice President Pat Patterson announced no decision would be made that night because President Ed Wilkerson and Trustee Howard Kesner were absent.

Several mothers of preschool age children, who attend day care classes at Mount Pleasant School, attended the school board meeting and complained that they felt having a public library in the same building as a day care was unsafe.

One complained that "perverts" could enter the school on the pretext of using the library and potentially molest one of the small children.

School trustee Mary M. King recommended using the former Oakbrook Laundromat building for a temporary library site at that meeting.

But Napiorkowski said the building's owners are currently under bankruptcy and the building cannot be rented.

Another site, the old Har-

Firm wins tax abatement

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A 12-year tax abatement request by Aztec Manufacturing Corp. owner Frank Lopez was rejected by Mayor Beverly McAnally and the City Council on June 15, but Lopez's community service record did get him an additional two years over the time recommended by the mayor.

Aztec is planning $1.1 million in land improvements and $3.7 million in new machinery and equipment purchases over the next few years.

The growth project would double the size of his building and add 10 to 20 new jobs in the next two years, Lopez said.

The business owner asked the council to increase the tax abatement of six years that has become a standard in Romulus in recent years, except for major businesses like General Motors (which received 12 years when it opened its engine plant years ago).

Lopez said many of his best customers, including General Motors, are downsizing, while others are finding foreign offers more tempting than his lately.

Lopez, who operates one of the top minority businesses in the Midwest, said representatives of southern states have visited his offices and offered 15-year tax abatement plans if he would move there.

They also are willing to train employees for me, before they even begin to start work, Lopez said.

He has turned such business enterprise proposal materials over to the Community Development office for study.

Councilman Noah (Pete) Bergeron said "since the mayor has left the door open on hiking the number of abatement years, I would just like to say that Romulus must consider changing its long standing six-year maximum tax abatement policy."

"I just drove through a Hagarty Road industrial development that was created thanks to 12-year tax abatement offers in neighboring towns," he said.

"If we are going to compete in the industrial attraction field we will have to offer the same," Bergeron said. "Mr. Lopez has put his time, effort and money into Romulus and has worked hard with our schools."

"We need employers such as him to pay wages that will allow workers to buy homes in this city," Bergeron said.

Councilman Russell Lambert supported the tax abatement hike concept, stating, "I'm impressed with his record, he puts a lot back into the community. I know a lot of GM families who are leaving the area and taking a lot of tax dollars with them.

"If I was to consider additional years for any tax abatement request, I would consider Aztec first," Lambert said.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry, known for many maverick comments, declared, "For a change I can agree with my colleagues. I could support an eight-year abatement. I applaud his record in Romulus and feel small businesses like his will be the ones that create the spark in the economy the U.S. needs."

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks also supported the abatement hike, saying "I feel you are now part of the Romulus family."

When Lopez continued to explain the need for budget cuts for his firm to stay competitive in a tough economy, Councilman Randolph Gear challenged him. "Don't push...take the eight years and run."

The council supported Raspberry's motion, 7-0, but Councilman William Wadsworth cautioned "I support it with mixed feelings" claiming he didn't want it to "open the flood gates" or to be precedent setting.

Learned from Dad Student wins 1st John F. Kennedy award

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Melanie Wilhide, a sixth grade Wick Elementary School student who learned community service from her late father, Noel, was named the first recipient of the John F. Kennedy Award presented by the school last Thursday.

The award was originated this year by principal Chuck Shamey for the "student who exemplifies the highest levels of character and responsibility...and is looked upon by her peers as a leader and a friend."

Other qualifications of the award were that the student "demonstrate academic achievement through hard work...and receive above average grades."

Shamey said the award winner each year should "display the same zest for life during the primary school years as was shown by the youthful manner of the late President Kennedy."

Melanie's sixth grade teacher, Diane Golka, stated at the awards presentation attended by more than 300 people, "Melanie takes responsibility seriously. She comes to school early and goes home late and is always supportive of her peers."

"Melanie doesn't complain when things get tough," Golka added, "and is not influenced by peer pressure."

School secretary Carol Bales stated, "Melanie enthusiastically confronts all challenges. She is friendly, outgoing, hard-working and willing to undertake all types of responsibility."

"Most importantly, Melanie cares about her family,

Lisa Kosikowski, in-house supervisor, said, "Melanie is very reliable and trustworthy...and is well liked by students and adults. She gives a 110 percent effort all the time. It has been a pleasure knowing her."

Melanie's mother, Verlie, explained she was very surprised that her daughter won the new Kennedy award.

"As they were reading the qualifications for the winner," her mother said, "I was sure that there wasn't a mother in the audience, who didn't feel their daughter deserved the award."

"I was extremely pleased that school officials saw in Melanie what I have long seen in her...a girl who loves others and constantly goes out of her way to aid them without grip-ing when things go wrong," her mother said.

Romulus music show due Sunday

Joe Prater and the Huron Valley Express will offer a wide variety of country music and sounds of the 50s this Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Romulus Historic Park.

Gloria Chandler, spokesperson for the Romulus Arts Council which is sponsoring the show, said Prater began his singing career in 1951 by entertaining U.S. troops on Okinawa.

While Prater is known best as a dynamic country-western singer, and his band has earned the title of Michigan's Number 1 Country Band, Prater also offers the big band sound and original material.

Other members of the band include Tommy Sparks, lead guitar and fiddle; his wife, Goldie Sparks, bass guitar; Bob Anderson, steel and lead guitar; and George Ferguson, drums.

Chandler advises music lovers to bring their own lawn chairs or blankets for the show. The nearby Romulus Historic Museum also will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Romulus resident arrested for theft

A 26-year-old Romulus man was charged with stealing an air conditioner from an empty apartment at Olympia Village, police said.

Kasey Dancy was arraigned before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski last Thursday on the charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny.

Police said Dancy along with two other men broke into a village apartment, stole an air conditioner and placed it in the back seat of Dancy's car.

Bail was set at $10,000 (10 percent) with a return preliminary hearing date of June 30.

No other arrests have been made in the incident.

Schools given reading grant

The Romulus School District has been awarded a second grant to spur reading by elementary school students by Northwest Airlines, Assistant Superintendent of Schools Dr. Terrel LeCesne announced.

The grant actually is filed through the Reading is Fundamental program, LeCesne said, and in the past two years the school district has been able to purchase more than 5,000 additional books.

"The Northwest Airlines grant will help us continue to nurture and awaken youngsters' interest in reading," LeCesne continued. "RIF's unique approach makes youngsters want to read...and the more they read, the more their skills improve."

The national RIF program was founded in 1966.

2 women join U.S. Army

Leontyne M. Price and Susan L. Krefit of Romulus have joined the U.S. Army.

Price, a 1992 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, is the daughter of Patricia and Commodore Price of Westland.

She enlisted in the Army for a three-year tour of duty as a parachute rigger. Price is scheduled to report for active duty in July.

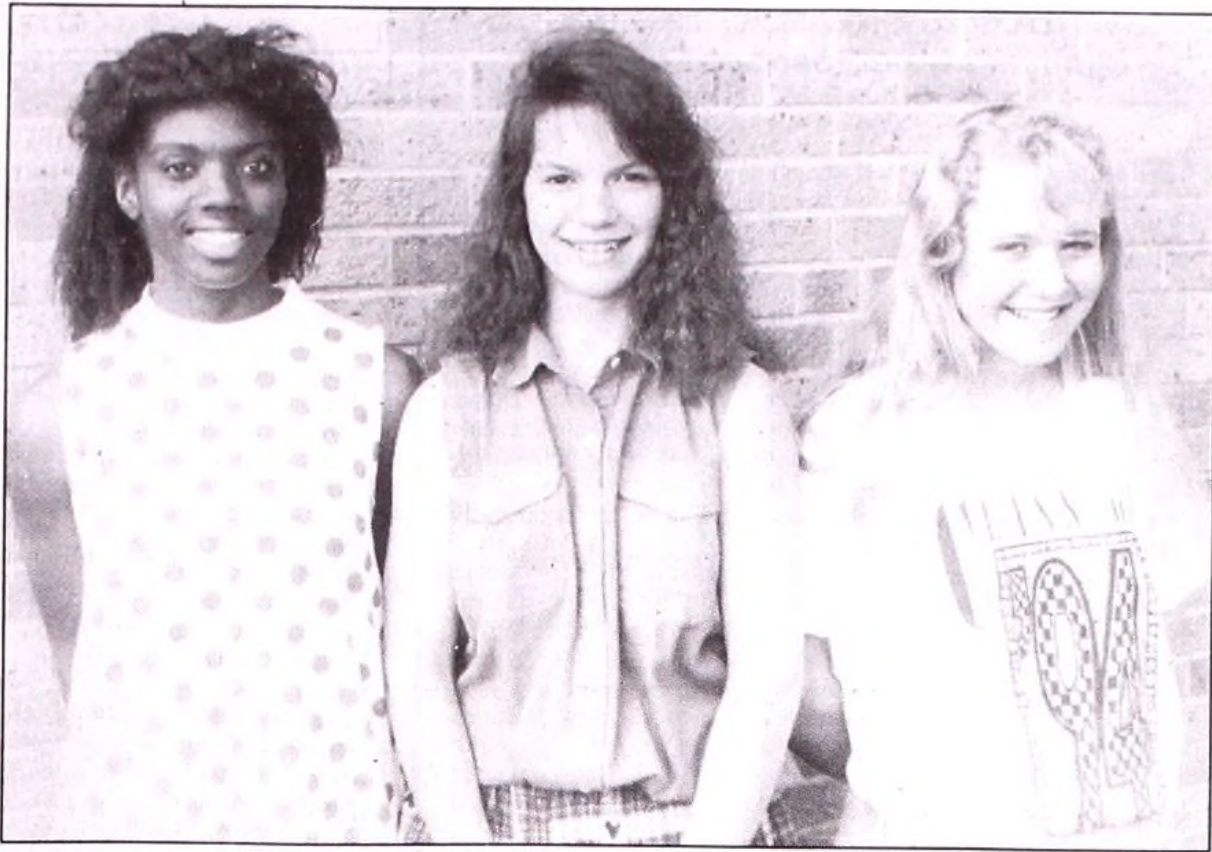

Krefit, daughter of Phyllis and Stan Krefit of Romulus, enlisted in the delayed entry program for a four-year tour of duty as an automated logistical specialist.

5 students on college dean list

Five Romulus students have been named to the winter 1993 dean's list at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The students were identified as Jarmo Sakari Ake, Julie Marie Hankins, Marie Louise Kinnell, Annette Lee Robbins and Jeanna Rae Saltz.

To qualify for the dean's list, Dean of Instruction Dr. Louis Reibling said the students must carry at least 12 credit hours and earn a 3.5 (B+) average.

Trio attend Girls State week

Three Romulus Senior High School students recently attended a week-long American Legion Auxiliary Girls State Program at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant.

Staci Lynne Steffani, daughter of Sean and Sandy Steffani; Lisa Jo Decker, daughter of Dennis and Karen Decker; and Lekeisha Holmes, daughter of LeRoy and Mildred Holmes attended the program.

All three students, who recently completed their 11th year at Romulus High School, were awarded scholarships worth $200. Steffani was sponsored by the Rotary Club, Decker by the Kiwanis Club and Holmes by the Romulus Progressive Club.

They will be asked to explain their Girls State experiences to their classmates next fall.

School Counselor John Domas revealed the 1993 Girls State Program was designed as a practical experience in examining problems in self-government as operated in the state of Michigan.

"The purpose of the program is to emphasize the importance of government in modern life, to stimulate a deep and lasting interest in government and to enlarge the students understanding of the governmental process," Domas said.

Each of the 546 students joins in the electoral process, has an opportunity to hold public office and is encouraged to share in the formulation of public policy.

"It is hoped that the student will leave Girls State with a mature appreciation of some of the basic strengths and weaknesses of the American system of government," Domas continued.

Girls were selected by their interest, character and potential abilities. Also considered are teacher recommendations and academic record.

Upon their arrival at Girls

State, each girl is assigned to a mythical political party and to a particular county and city. There are seven counties included in the program and three cities.

In addition to political leaders, the press association, lobbyist and special interest groups are popular activities at the typical Girls State.

Domas thanked several people for assisting with the selection process including: Mae Jackson, William Knight and Alan Wilkerson, school counselors; Gerald Nault, representative of the Kiwanis and Progressive Clubs; Michael Prybyla, Rotary Club representative; Jill Avery, class advisor; Gail Coleman, Dennis Stoh, Ann Scott; Mike Kernohan, Sue Vogel-Anderson, Harry Willnus, Mike Zaher and Gail Fraley, all teachers; principal Thomas Dolan, and Dan Hurst and Mike Teasdale, assistant principals; and Judy Nutt, guidance office secretary.

Voting surprises unveiled

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Precinct by precinct voter breakdowns in the Romulus Community School Board election provided a few surprises last week.

The final vote checks showed one minor change in the ninth precinct for incumbent Sandra Langley, who collected six votes instead of 12.

The vote check revealed 852 voters turned out, with former board member Kenneth Berling leading the three candidates with 533 votes, Langley with 524 and challenger Pauline Calhoun with 414.

Despite trailing her two opponents in many precincts, Calhoun did capture five including precincts one, eight, nine, 15 and 18.

Berling was top vote getter in the following precincts: two, four, nine, 10, 11, 12, 14 and 20.

Langley meanwhile won seven precincts, including: three, five, seven, 13, 15, 16 and 17.

Because of the small turnout it was not too surprising to find out that six precincts had ties for the lead or one vote separating the top two vote getters. The ties were registered in the ninth precinct, where Berling and Calhoun scored 12 votes each, the 13th precinct where Calhoun and Langley gained 15 votes each and the 18th precinct where Berling and Langley received 17 votes each, one less than Calhoun.

Speaking of ties, precincts one and nine each attracted 17 voters--the lowest of the day. Precinct 20 collected the most with 275 voters.

in the school store and making the daily bus calls.

Her father (known as Doug) was killed in a post-Christmas accident in 1989, when his vehicle was struck by a drunk driver, Wilhide said.

"Her father's dream was that all three of his daughters would graduate from his high school--Romulus Senior High School," Wilhide continued, "and she is fulfilling that dream." Her dad graduated in 1970.

Melanie has two sisters, Sarah, 15 and Jessica, 11.

Melanie earned an American Red Cross babysitting certificate last year and continues to serve both the Wick School staff and her peers by answering office telephones, working Plans call for the asbestos abatement first to occur at the library, then at City Hall.

City Hall offices would be moved into the library during the transition, with council meetings slated to be held at the 34th District Court. But what remains to be decided is the library relocation issue itself.

Teen held on fire-sex charge

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Eighteen-year-old Michael Tomason of Romulus will appear in 34th District Court today for a preliminary examination on charges that he dropped a girl into a bonfire when she refused to have sex with him.

Tomason was arrested on June 15 after a 17-year-old girl, who spent three days under treatment for third degree burns at Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti, told Detective Sgt. Joe Wedesky that Tomason dropped her in the fire behind a home on Castle Road.

She claimed Tomason invited her to his birthday party on Sunday June 13 and then tried to force her to have sex.

Wedesky said Tomason was celebrating his birthday with a group of male friends in a backyard of a home on Castle Road.

Tomason reportedly called the victim to the party about midnight, Wedesky said, after the group of men had consumed some alcohol.

The victim told police Tomason was rather abusive to her after she arrived and she refused his sexual invitations.

Her refusal apparently angered Tomason, the victim said, as he then threatened to throw her into the bonfire if she continued to refuse his sexual requests.

When she refused again, the victim said, Tomason picked her up and held her over the fire while continuing to threaten her.

Wedesky said the victim was then either dropped or fell into the fire and suffered third degree burns of the right arm and upper back.

But she reportedly held onto Tomason's neck and pulled him into the fire, Wedesky said. Tomason suffered first and second burns of the arms.

The victim then kicked her purse out of the fire, grabbed it and ran to her parked car, Wedesky said.

A witness said the victim's hair was smoldering as she fled from the fire.

The victim locked herself in her car, Wedesky said, while Tomason tried to claim that he wasn't serious in his demands.

The victim was admitted to Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti for treatment. She was released Wednesday.

Tomason was called to Romulus Police Headquarters Wednesday, questioned and then charged.

He was arraigned before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski on a charge of assault to do great bodily harm less than murder and ordered held in lieu of $50,000 cash bail.

The victim told Zaborowski her burns were caused "because I refused to have sex" with Tomason.

4 students join world conference

By AL POST

Four Romulus Senior High School students joined 1,250 worldwide peers earlier this month in a weeklong World Affairs Seminar staged at the University of Wisconsin.

The four, who received scholarships valued at $245 each, were Tyrone Jones Jr., son of Tyrone and Diane Jones; Christina A. Seibert, daughter of Richard and Doreen Seibert; Joshua Scott Remelius, son of Rick and Vicki Remelius; and Shalina Renee Warren, daughter of Eartha Warren.

The students, who attended the seminar from June 13-18, were sponsored by the following service clubs: Jones and Seibert, Rotary Club; Remelius, Kiwanis Club; and Warren, Progressive Club.

John Domas, Romulus High counselor, said the seminar attracts 1,000 students from around the U.S. and Canada and 250 from other nations (many of them foreign exchange students).

The seminar is a "personalized educational program for specially selected high school students," he said. "It's primary purpose is to bring about a better understanding of world problems on the part of high school students through a study of current issues, while at the same time providing the opportunity to discuss those issues with young people from the countries concerned."

Domas said "emphasis was placed upon promoting a better understanding of the causes of world conflict with the thought that if the causes are understood, world problems are most likely to be solved peacefully."

The meeting involving students from 50 nations enabled the youth to learn about each others customs, traditions, aspirations and heritage, Domas explained.

The experience of living on a college campus also was exciting and worthwhile, he said, as students shared dormitory rooms, shared meals and heard various speakers.

They also saw various films, participated in panel discussions, viewed foreign displays and were presented with various portfolios.

VAN BUREN PUBLIC SCHOOLS Minutes of the Board of Education REGULAR MEETING May 10, 1993

The Regular Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, May 10, 1993 at 7:30 p.m.

Members present: Jere Dolph, Sharry Budd, David Peer, Edward Adkins, Martha Toth, and Susan Ward Callahan. Sherry Frazier arrived at 8:20 p.m. Also present were Superintendent James Richendollar, Director of Business Affairs Jack Hosmer, Director of Instruction Douglas Brown, and Director of Personnel Raymond Kohr.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Dolph. Certificate of Appreciation was presented to high school teacher Christine Diehl for her outstanding achievements in the field of Science.

The Belleville High School Ambassadors gave a brief performance for the board.

The minutes of the regular meeting of April 12, 1993 and special meetings of April 26, 1993 and May 3, 1993 were reviewed. Jack Hosmer gave an explanation of the bills in question at the April 12 meeting. Motion by Edward Adkins, supported by Martha Toth, that the minutes be approved as printed. Motion carried unanimously.

The financial reports for the months of March and April were reviewed. Jack Hosmer gave an explanation of the line items in question on the March financial statements. Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sharry Budd, that the financial reports be approved as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

The bills for the month of April were reviewed. Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sharry Budd, that the bills be paid as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

On recommendation of the Personnel Office, motion by Sharry Budd, supported by Martha Toth, that the following changes in support staff be approved:

Anita Coleman, Bus Driver, be granted termination of employment effective April 23, 1993; and Dori Deaton be hired as a Bus Driver effective May 11, 1993. Motion carried unanimously.

On recommendation of the Personnel Office, motion by Edward Adkins, supported by Martha Toth, that the following changes in instructional staff be approved:

Jeanine Parker, Edgemont School, be granted termination of employment effective June 18, 1993. Motion carried unanimously.

1992-93 spring sports coaching assignments were presented for approval. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Edward Adkins, that the coaching assignments be approved as presented. Roll call vote: Ayes: Callahan, Peer, Toth, Adkins, Frazier, Dolph. Nays: Budd. Motion carried.

Jack Hosmer presented bids received for the purchase of cafeteria tables for South Middle School. William Houston, Assistant Principal of South Middle School, recommended that the bid be awarded to McDonald's Corporation for the Krueger uniframe table at a bid price of $26,013.75. He stated that although it was not the lowest bid, the Krueger table was found to be superior in design, quality, safety, ease of sitting, length of warranty and overall performance. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Sharry Budd, that the bid be awarded to McDonald's Corporation for $26,013.75. Motion carried unanimously.

Jack Hosmer presented a request for a price reduction for the building trades house at 194 Edgemont Street from $123,000 to $118,900. Carol Bird from Carol Bird & Associates was present and discussed the new appraisal. Motion by Sherry Frazier, that the selling price be reduced to $118,900 to make it more competitive and raise commission rate to 5% across the board. Motion failed due to lack of support. Motion by Edward Adkins, supported by Susan Callahan, that the selling price be lowered to $118,900 and there be a two-phase commission rate with 3% for local (in-house) and 5% for co-op (outside). Motion carried unanimously.

Jack Hosmer presented a resolution for approval enabling reimbursement of capital expenditures for South Middle School roof should the board choose to hold a bond election in the near future to fund technology program. It would be an option available if the board wanted to use it. Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the resolution be approved to keep open the option should the board go for a bond issue, if the voters approve it, and if the board chooses to apply resolution for some reimbursement. Motion carried unanimously.

Representative Deborah Whyman was present and discussed Proposal A (2% sales tax increase) which will be on the ballot for the state's special election scheduled for June 2, 1993. She also answered questions regarding school funding should the proposal pass. Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, The property owners of the Van Buren Public School district have historically paid one of the highest school operating tax rates in the state to support a spending level per student that was barely average, and

WHEREAS, Public education benefits society as a whole, while the burden of supporting it has been disproportionately borne by property owners, and

WHEREAS, One result of over-reliance on the property tax to support public education has been enormous and shameful inequity in the quality of education offered to Michigan's children depending upon where they live, and

WHEREAS, Proposal A, on the ballot state-wide on June 2, will offer:

1. substantial and lasting property tax relief
2. a move to spread the responsibility for the support of public education over the public at large, and
3. a significant step toward quality education for ALL of Michigan's children.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Van Buren Public Schools Board of Education hereby supports and endorses Proposal A and urges the voters of the school district to endorse it at the polls on June 2.

Roll call vote Ayes: Peer, Toth, Adkins, Budd, Frazier, Dolph. Nays: Callahan. Motion carried.

Revised Board policy IDG - Adult & Community Education was presented for review and will be placed on the June 14 agenda for approval.

Wayne County RESA Board of Education election is scheduled for June 7, 1993 at 7:00 p.m. at Wayne County RESA. One board member needs to be designated to vote in the election. President Dolph asked the Superintendent's Office to check and see if the board could vote absentee so a special meeting could be held on June 7 to honor exemplary service employees and retirees.

Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sharry Budd, that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried unanimously. Meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

Students jump for hearts

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Twenty-seven students from Haggerty Elementary School participated in the fourth annual Jump rope for Your Heart Jump-a-Thon.

Prizes were awarded to Belinda Howard and Donald Gray for the most consecutive jumps. Joy Yearout will receive a prize for earning the most money in the event.

The students collected $578.10 for the American Heart Association for their efforts. The money is slated to be used for research, education and medical care by the association.

The youngsters were supervised by physical education teacher Ann Birkle and student teacher Sam Cornett along with parent helpers, Dock Riley, JoLynn De-Buysscher, Sharon Roach plus Sandra and Ashley Armstrong. Riley, who was challenged by the youngsters, passed the winning totals.

VAN BUREN PUBLIC SCHOOLS
Minutes of the Board of Education
SPECIAL MEETING
May 24, 1993

A Special Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, May 24, 1993 at 7:30 p.m.

Members present: Jere Dolph, Martha Toth, Edward Adkins, Sharry Budd, David Peer, and Sherry Frazier. Absent: Susan Ward Callahan. Also present were Superintendent James Richendollar, Director of Instruction Douglas Brown, Director of Business Affairs Jack Hosmer, and Director of Personnel Raymond Kohr.

The meeting was called to order at 7:35 p.m. by President Jere Dolph. Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sherry Frazier, that Deborah Wilutis (Savage School) be granted a parental leave of absence with last day of work May 19, 1993 and a return date of the first day of school for the 1994-95 school year. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Edward Adkins, that Susan Stahl be granted a medical leave of absence for the 1993-94 school year. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Martha Toth, that Jane Rockwell (North Middle School Food Service employee) be granted termination of employment for retirement purposes effective June 16, 1993. Motion carried unanimously.

Theresa Green, Rawsonville Elementary School Principal, and several teachers and parents were present and gave a presentation on the Rawsonville School/University of Michigan collaborative three-year project (multi-age classrooms) that will end in June, 1993. Teachers from both the lower and upper level multi-age classrooms and the traditional classrooms discussed their teaching methods. Kindergarten teachers stated their desire to include kindergarten in the multi-age concept. They are going to hold a summer program for their kindergartners for five weeks this summer. Teachers are volunteering their time to run this program. Representatives from the University of Michigan who worked with Rawsonville to implement the multi-age classroom concept were also present. Currently, Rawsonville has six multi-age classrooms and eight traditional classrooms. They expressed their desire to continue the multi-age concept into the 1993-94 school year and add one K-1 multi-age classroom.

Sharry Budd and Sherry Frazier expressed support for establishing a smoke-free environment throughout the school system.

Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried unanimously. Special meeting adjourned at 9:45 p.m.

Players stage first production

A comedy has been selected to showcase the talents of the first production of the Belleville Area Community Players.

Bedside Manners, will be staged on the evenings of Aug. 20 and Aug. 21 and at an Aug. 22 matinee.

"We are offering our first production special rates of only $5 for all seats. Group rates offered for parties of 15 or more for only $3 per seat," said Sherry Maironis. "Our intention is to allow the entire community the opportunity to experience a live stage performance. We are hoping the senior citizens and other group will take advantage of this offer."

The tickets can be used at any of the three performances at the Belleville High School auditorium.

"Part of the excitement of the community theater is not only that it is an effort of the community, but that there may be faces on stage of friends and neighbors that you recognize," said Maironis, the organizer of the theater group.

Glenn's state baseball title dream ends in semis

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Some would say it's the John Glenn nemesis. Others may call it a "jinx". But no matter how you look at it, Westland John Glenn again failed to find the way out of the semifinals and into the state baseball finals. The Rockets were left on their launching pad as No.1 state-ranked Grand Ledge mercied Glenn, 13-2, Friday in Battle Creek.

It was the third unsuccessful trip to the semis for a coach Norm Hoenes club, and the veteran coach was quick to say that he was "very disappointed."

"You know in a couple of weeks when we look back and see that we had a 27-4 season, it won't be bad," Hoenes said. "But right now, it hurts. Yes, I am very disappointed because I thought this year we could go all the way."

"It's unfortunate, but it didn't work out that way."

Glenn made its debut in the state semis in 1986, losing a cliffhanger, 1-0, to Birmingham Brother Rice. They made a repeat appearance in 1992 and again the Rockets came away disappointed after losing a 2-1 decision to Lapeer West.

But the third time hurt the worst. No one had expected Glenn to lose to Grand Ledge the way they did.

"In our first two trips, we got up there and played immediately after getting off the bus," Hoenes recalled. "This time we figured that we would get there a day before and allow the kids to relax before we played. Obviously, that didn't work, either."

Glenn put together an impressive string of victories in the stretch to reach the semis where Grand Ledge, ranked among the top teams throughout all during the 1993 campaign, burst the Rocket bubble. They got to Glenn's starter Bryan Besco for four runs in the first inning and didn't look back until the umpires called it after five.

Glenn did look as if it recovered, making a game of it in their first when they got two of those four runs back on a walk to Aaron Scheffer, a single by Greg Nesbitt, and Besco's two-run single after Bryan's brother, Derek, hit a grounder that was booted.

Grand Ledge came right back and scored three runs in the second and four more in the third before adding two more in the fourth against a slew of Glenn relievers.

Besco, who had an 8-1 personal record going into the matchup, was charged with the loss. His counterpart, Todd Weier, tossed a four-hitter, struck out four, walked two and hit one batter for the victory.

Grand Ledge however didn't claim the coveted Class A state crown. That honor went to Warren De La Salle, which whipped the Lansing area club in the finals.

The Westland team got to the semifinals with a 10-1 victory over Southgate Anderson in the quarterfinals as Aaron Scheffer scattered six hits, fanned five and walked one to pick up the victory. He lost his bid for a shutout when Anderson scored its single tally in the bottom of the fifth.

Glenn, with a 4-1 lead, buried the Cougars with a sixrun outburst in the top of the seventh as the Besco twins each stroked singles, then Nick James sacrificed and when the infielder threw wild to first, allowing the Bescos to score.

Then, Jarrod Hura singled in James for the third run of the inning. Hoenes decided on pinch-hitter Brian Tack who came through with a single and when Jeremy Cosby got aboard on an error, that set up a bases loaded situation for Scheffer, who drilled a two-run single. Nesbitt also came belted a base hit for the final run of the inning.

It was Glenn's eighth consecutive win.

Boasting an eight-game winning streak in the stretch, Westland John Glenn appeared to have all of its Rockets on the launching pad aimed directly at the state title. However, the Rockets misfired again as No. 1 - state ranked Grand Ledge turned back Glenn 13-2 on Friday in Battle Creek. It was the third trip to the semifinals for the Westland team, and the third time they have come back empty handed. The loss left Glenn with an impressive 27-4 overall record for the 1993 campaign. Anthony Olivero

Area wrestler honored as scholar-athlete

A Westland grappler has earned the distinction from the Michigan High School Athletic Association as an athlete-scholar.

Anthony Olivero, who reached the state quarterfinals in wrestling in the Class B division, was nominated to represent Divine Child (Dearborn) as a scholar-athlete.

The students who are nominated must excel in the classroom as well as in athletics.

Olivero, a senior, is a member of the National Honor Society who has carried an impressive 3.5 grade point average. His athletic achievements include a second-place medal at the Class B regionals. He also reached the state quarterfinals before losing on the mats.

Olivero, the son of Mike and Cathy Olivero of Westland, plans to attend the University of Michigan in the fall.

Parade of stars All-Area teams are coming up

Although the 1993 spring high school sports season came to an abrupt end Friday afternoon in Battle Creek where the last title-hopeful in the area, Westland John Glenn, lost its bid for a coveted state baseball championship when it lost to No. 1-ranked Grand Ledge in the state semifinals, there is still the serious business of selecting the All-Area teams.

The Associated Newspapers' Sports Staff is compiling stats and information on the top players and coaches and will honor them on our traditional All-Area teams.

However, before the ANP staff puts together its baseball lineup, there's one group of top-notch athletes who were overlooked - the All-

Area swimmers. They will lead the Parade of Stars, who will be featured next week.

The ANP staff selected their teams with the cooperation of area coaches, who nominated candidates for the various teams. Players were selected from the following high schools: Belleville, Romulus, Plymouth-Canton, Plymouth-Salem, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Robichaud and Inkster.

If you wish to nominate an athlete who participated in a high school spring sport, contact the ANP sports desk by dialing 729-4000 during regular business hours, Monday through Friday.

Football registration continues

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

If your plans include playing football this fall for the Westland Youth Athletic Association, WYAA officials will like to hear from you.

WYAA has scheduled registration for prospective players during the next two weeks.

Registration is being accepted at the Lange Compound, located at 6050 Farmington Road, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. on June 26 and from 8 p.m. until 10 p.m. on June 23.

The WYAA fields two groups of teams - the Comets and the Meteors, who have clubs represented in the freshmen (8-10 age group); junior varsity (11-12) and varsity (12-14).

Players are assigned to teams according to age and weight.

Parents who need more information about the WYAA should contact Roy Harper, who can be reached at 595-6444 or Keith DeMolay, who is in charge of the Comets. DeMolay may be reached at 722-1251.

"We would like all of the potential players to sign up as soon as possible so that we can assign them to teams," said DeMolay, who has been with the WYAA for more than 10 years.

"The WYAA has one of the more successful age-group football programs in the area."

"And we have been successful thanks to the cooperation of the parents and a devoted and dedicated coaching staff," DeMolay added.

17 of 18 qualify Inkster runners seek national glory

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Inkster runners continue to sparkle.

On Saturday, in torrential rains, Inkster Track Club coach Keith Bailey again managed to put together a team of 18 runners for the prestigious Michigan AAU-USA State Championships in Lansing on Saturday, and 17 of the athletes qualified for the national regional championships.

The national regionals will be conducted July 10-11 in Hammond, Indiana.

"Our kids looked good at the state invitational," said Bailey, who is an assistant coach at Inkster High School and helped the Vikings' women's team capture the Class B state title.

"We got a lot of work ahead of us until we can say that we are ready for the nationals."

"But these kids are dedicated to what they are doing. I feel we will fare well in Indiana."

Inkster sophomore Charnell Lynn, who won an unprecedented four gold medals at the Class B state championships recently, came back and captured a pair of golds in the 100-meters (12.5) and the 200-meters (25.4) at the AAU meet. Lynn also anchored the ITC 400-meter relay team that finished first with a 51.2 effort.

Bailey's lineup also included Courtney Brown, Channon Kulick and Kelly Jackson.

Kulick also placed second in the 400-meter dash, covering the distance in 60.3. Brown chipped in a third place in the long jump event with a leap of 14 feet, 10 3/4 inches.

Inkster also had a double winners in the boys' 15-16 age group in Dion Grubbs. Grubbs, a sprinter, hit the tape in 11 seconds flat for the 100-yard dash and he led the pack to the finish also in the 200-meter dash. His time for the 200 was 22.5. Teammate Lionel Allen carded a 52.3 for his bronze in the 400-meter dash.

The 400-meter girls' relay team also captured a gold in the 800-meter relay event. The four-some - Brown, Kulick, Jackson and Lynn - was clocked in 4:26.

In the 13-14 age group, Carmencita Davis and Shannon Porter of Inkster trailed teammate Kathy Chapman to the wire of the 800-meter race.

Our kids looked good at the state invitational. We got a lot of work ahead of us until we can say that we are ready for the nationals.

- Keith Bailey
assistant coach

Chapman turned in the winning time of 2:22 for her gold medal. Davis finished third (2:45) while Porter settled for a four-place medal (2:53).

In the 11-12 age group, Inkster finished 1-2 in the 100 with Nancy Springer (13.30) and Chantelle Lewis (13.4). Lewis also brought home a silver with her 27.8 performance in the 200-meter dash.

Lakeya Dowdella of Inkster also has a gold for her leap of 11 feet, 10 inches in the long jump. Dowdella, Latanya Gooden, Springer and Lewis teamed combined for a 57.6 in finishing second in the 400-meter relay.

Bailey also fielded the best 400-meter men's relay team in the 17-18 age group when he strung together a lineup that consisted of Marcus Harris, Wendell Faria, Jerome Allen and Derrick Jackson who had a 45.1 run.

Faria had an exceptional day in the sprints as he won the 100-meters in 10.7 and came back for a gold in the 200-meters thanks to his 22.5 performance.

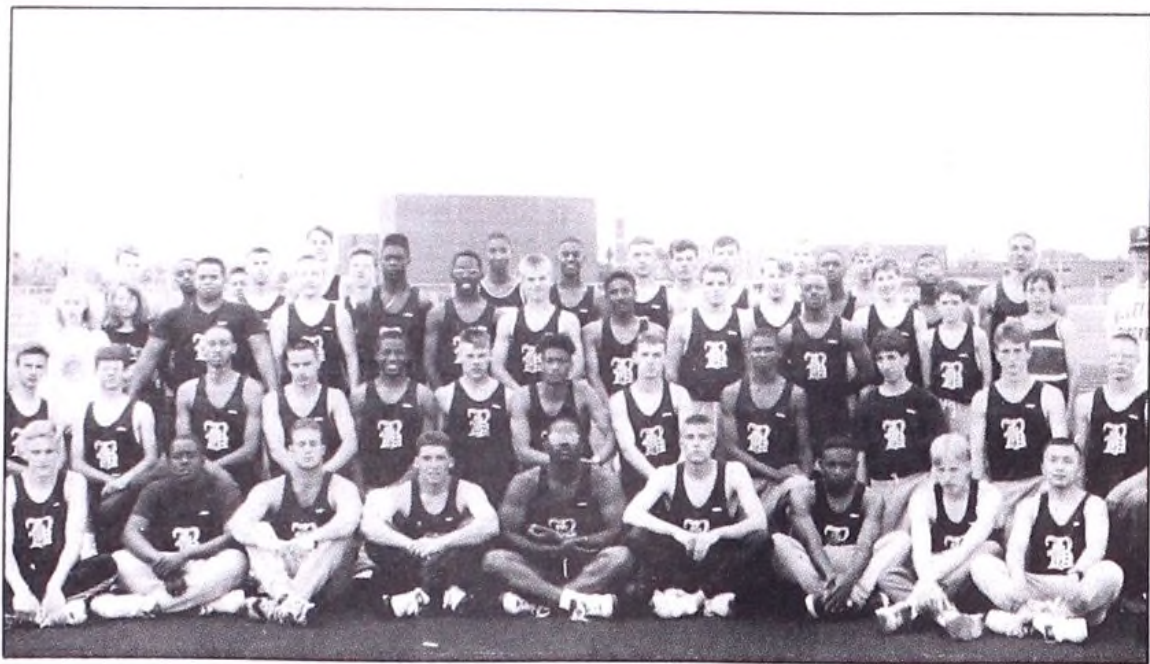

Allen also picked up a gold for his performance in the 400-meter dash. He carded a 51.3 and Jackson was fourth in the 800-meters (2:12).

The Inkster Track Club will tune up for national regionals with an appearance in the Motor City Classic which will be staged Saturday in Detroit at Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. High School.

Sixers claim title

Although they finished runnerup during the regular season, the Sixers came back and captured the Junior Division basketball title by sweeping three post-season games. The champs, ages 11-12, piled up a 10-2 record including a heart-stopping 70-65 victory over the Rockets in the finals. The lineup included: Adam McGahan (front row, from left), Jeremy Stewart, Jason Repasky, Brad Nugent and Brandon Spaulding; in the second row are coach Keith DeMolay, T. R. Bates, Keith Martin, Jason Malloy, Brad Wilkes, Jason Sadowski and coach Mike Schweizer. ANP Special Photo

The last champ

School officials sounded the knell for the Wolverine 'A' Conference last year when they announced that the 11-year-old league would be dissolved after the 1993 school year. Next year, Belleville and Wayne - two prominent members of the WAC - will join the Mega Conference. But, before Belleville bid the Wolverine good-bye, coach Dave Medley's Tigers managed to put together a string of seven dual meet wins and capped the perfect season off with the conference title. The Tigers plan to play a dominate role in their future track league. ANP Special Photo

Some 100,000 visitors celebrated the 17th Annual National Strawberry Festival in Belleville with a parade, pageant, carnival rides, a circus, entertainment and refreshments last weekend.

Although the activities were many and varied, the undisputed stars of the three-day event were the red, ripe, juicy strawberries which were made into cakes, pies, sundaes, shortcakes, pancakes, jams and jellies.

Even a series of downpours couldn't dampen the spirit of the festival-goers. Visitors scattered for shelter when the rains came, but returned to the festival attractions when the clouds passed by.

As visitors from neighboring communities strolled from event to event, they greeted old friends and made new friends. A spirit of friendship and enthusiasm were evident from dawn to dark at the festival sites, along with anticipation for the festival to come next summer.

Local man to travel to Europe in choir competition

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

His voice will be one among a select group of 25 men and women who have been chosen to represent the U.S. and compete in the 30th Annual International Choral Festival in Spittal, Austria in July.

Wayne resident Paul Woodin, a tenor, auditioned and was selected as a member of the Eastern Michigan University Chamber Choir.

"This is a great honor," Woodin said. "We will be singing songs of the nation, country. This competition means a lot because they only take one choir from each country, so we're representing the U.S."

The Chamber Choir will also be touring to the Czech Republic, Moravia, Austria and Italy. The choir members will perform in churches, concert halls and for community groups in Prague, Brno, Ceske, Vienna, Florence, Venice and Rome.

"The students range in age from 18 to 21 years old," Woodin said. "We will be singing a wide range of music including sacred music, Christian and Hebrew."

Twenty-five students from Michigan and Ohio have been preparing since last September for the competition. Funds for the trip were gathered through student and parent payments, performances, grants and various contributions from friends, family and alumni, according to Woodin.

"I've enjoyed singing most of my life," Woodin said. "I'm a Wayne High graduate, and I used to sing in high school."

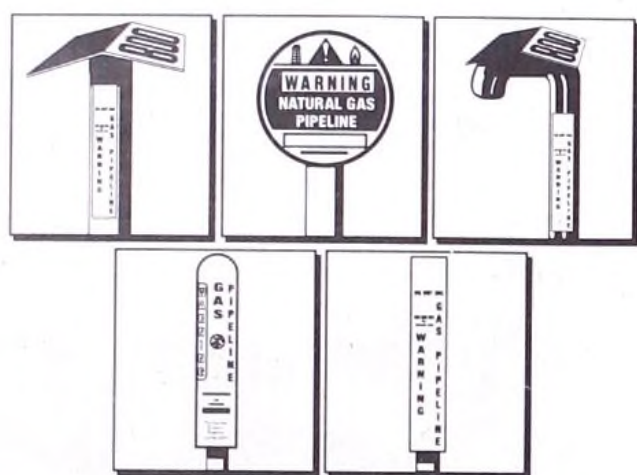

"When I came to Eastern I really didn't know what I wanted to study so I joined the choir. I received my bachelor's degree in music education, and I recently completed my masters in choral music."

Woodin said he is hoping to achieve a teaching position in music. Although there he is aware of the various millage cuts across the state, he said he is still positive about finding a job.

Woodin has traveled throughout his university years with the choir to countries some only dream about.

How much did you lose last year on nondeductible interest?

FIXED RATE

Maybe you've noticed it while getting your taxes ready. All the interest you've paid on consumer loans that's not deductible.

Well, now's the time to think of a strategy for next year's taxes. And consider borrowing against the equity in your home.

At First of America, we can lock you into a low fixed 7.90 percent APR loan with terms of up to seven years. To make the offer even more attractive, all fees will be waived, so there will be no annual fee, appraisal fees, closing costs or points.

And you'll have a fixed monthly payment that will never change.

The sooner you take advantage of it, the more you can save on financing home improvements, education, a car or anything else worthwhile. You can even refinance a loan that you have somewhere else.

Be sure to consult your tax advisor to make sure the interest is tax deductible.

We can give qualified applicants fast approval—usually within 24 hours. So stop by any First of America office or call 1-800-735-1680 to apply today. And make last year's nondeductible interest a thing of the past.

Opinion

A festive season

It's that time of year.

Rather than evergreens and holly, however, the smell of cotton candy and French fries permeates the air. And, while there may not be snow, the feeling of community pride and good cheer certainly reminds us of the all the holiday season usually typifies.

Yes, it is the season of community festivals when the volunteers work countless hours and committee members are solving problems and making plans far into the night to ensure that all the events and festivities are problem free.

When we stop and think about the hours these people spend, we are amazed. Many of them began a month after the event last year and have spent a year planning these events. They have worked so long and so hard to provide these weekends of celebration we think they deserve a long and loud standing ovation from all of us.

Just last weekend, the National Strawberry Festival in Belleville again drew record crowds. And while local residents flocked to enjoy the atmosphere, the parade, the Strawberry Queen pageant and the craft booths and wonderful strawberry baked goods, we wondered how many thought about the hours of planning and work which made it all possible—all from volunteers.

This week, Canton Township will mark the beginning of the Liberty Fest with the dedication of the Veterans' Memorial in the township. This is the culmination of years of volunteer work by many individuals in the township who have spent a great deal of time and effort on the project.

And, the Liberty Fest will continue with a large contingent of arts and crafts, food, rides and entertainment—all made possible through the efforts of volunteers.

In Westland next week, the festival committee, all volunteers, will crown Miss Westland Festival and the fun will begin. There, too, there will be games, exhibits and a whole lot of family fun.

Romulus will bring a circus to town soon, and celebrated Michigan Week with a community festival and Inkster, thanks to the unrelenting efforts of community activists and volunteers, had a wonderful Memorial Day parade. Wayne has long been noted for the terrific Fall Festival which brings neighbors to the community to enjoy the good times.

We are, each of us, very fortunate to live in areas that have not lost the spirit of community, volunteerism and cooperation which make these events possible. When we see the rides go up and smell the corn dogs in the air—we know that it really is summer. And, while we know that many don't attend the events, we know that without them, a part of our culture would be gone.

These volunteers are doing far more than even they may know. This is, believe it or not, a part of small-town America and is a tradition which recalls the values and morals of an earlier, simpler time.

We thank everyone who put forth the effort to remind us of how lucky we really are.

But, a little less sauerkraut on the kielbasa would be appreciated.

A necessary limit

We know, it's inconvenient. Especially when one is in a hurry, late to work or for an appointment. But, they are in force for a reason, one that could mean our life.

We know that the 25 or 15 mph speed limit in effect in some residential districts which are a bit too well traveled are overlooked and often just ignored as drivers speed through on their way to the roads with higher speed limits and designed for heavier traffic.

But those limits are imposed for good reasons. Every driver has been warned of the small child who may dart out from between parked cars or appear at the end of a driveway as if from thin air.

Too many do not pay attention to those warnings.

It is only when it happens that the reality of the threat becomes real and the impact on all involved were a child to be injured because of our carelessness or inattention.

The limits are there for a reason. And that reason is multiplied ten-fold now that children are not in school during peak traffic hours.

Drive with them in mind.

Conservation Corps urged

To the editor:

Unemployment, underemployment and undereducation are three conditions that affect millions of our citizens adversely - especially our minorities. These conditions lead to feelings of disappointment, frustration, alienation, demoralization, and finally, antagonism. In recent years, the problems have continued to get worse.

Our youth, especially those between the ages of 18 to 24, who probably make up the largest segment of the unemployed, are desperately seeking job opportunities in order to achieve independence and an adequate income. With your leadership, the current administration need look no further than the program known as the "CCC", the old Civilian Conservation Corps. Re-activate the Corps and we can reduce greatly the problems of unemployment and its negative side-effects. In addition to earning an income, these youth will develop many skills and character traits such as discipline, honesty, integrity and perseverance.

Our nation's overall economy will benefit by assigning our armed forces personnel as supervisors and administrators of the program which provide conservation, restoration and refurbishing of our infrastructure and environment.

As one of our greatest leaders of all time, the late president Franklin Delano Roosevelt said at the beginning of his second term in office: "The test of our progress is not whether we add more to the abundance of those who have much, it is whether we provide enough for those who have too little." Re-enact the Civilian Conservation Corps, at the same level as it was in the "Thirties", thus conserving our nation's environment and infrastructure. Most importantly, we will conserve our youth - our most important, and most valuable resource.

Leadership is worth payment

To the editor:

In regards to the recent questions raised over the value of paid directorships for non-profit volunteer organizations such as Community Arts Councils, Symphony Leagues, Historical Societies, and the like, I believe the growth in our communities, and the competitiveness of the marketplace dictates that in order to enrich the quality of life in our communities through non-profit organizations we must pay for quality leadership.

Unlike the days of yesteryear when it was nothing for the local theater group to put on a play in someone's barn, the barns, as well as the qualified people have found other purposes for their talents in the salaried marketplace.

Today, volunteer means something very different. Today's volunteer organization leader must not only have a passion for the issue he or she supports, but in order to reach out to the community, they must also be educated in their field of interest, having at least one, if not two, college degrees; possess a keen understanding of financial control, grants, and budgeting; be savvy about marketing principles so as to find all the right niches; provide professional polish to public relations material; address public forms with the eloquence of a top-notch public speaker; and in order to gain trust, be above reproach, without a hidden agenda, honest and in general, an all-around "good egg."

We are truly blessed to have attracted volunteer organization leaders to our communities, who are not only educated, but are quality people in their own right. As a measure of their worth, to compensate them for their time away from their career marketplace, and to remunerate them for their dedicated enthusiasm towards an issue, we must financially reward these talented people for their efforts. Like it or not, it is a fact of the 90s. If you want quality, you must pay for it.

I feel our communities are very fortunate to have people such as Christine Ilas, Director for the Plymouth Community Arts Council and Beth Stewart, Director of the Plymouth Historical Museum. These qualified people give unlimited hours of service for their "part-time" position pay, contributing twice, or three times as much, financially and energetically, back to the organizations by which they are employed, to the betterment of this community. Their pay level also enlightens our community to the tremendous value of their counterparts in other non-profit organizations who generously give of their time and talents without financial remuneration.

As a community, let's appreciate these dedicated people who could be commanding much higher salaries in the marketplace, but have chosen to promote our quality of life through non-profit organization staff positions. As members of these organizations, let's realize the quality, education, experience of these people and support them in their visions for the future with our membership votes.

Bosnian relief effort needs aid

To the editor:

Funds are needed to help support efforts by Detroit area doctors/hospitals to aid Bosnian war victims brought for medical treatment.

Detroit area hospitals are volunteering to help with surgery and rehabilitation for war victims in the Bosnian war.

Many of the wounded are disabled and disfigured, with no possible help locally because of the conditions brought on by war. A number of these wounded will not get a change to live a normal life thanks to the generosity of some Detroit area doctors and hospitals.

A good part of their medical expenses will be covered, but there are also living expenses and medicines that must be supplied by the victims themselves. Funds are currently being raised to help the wounded while they stay in the Detroit area, all whom plan on returning to Europe once they've completed treatment.

For all of those who wish to help, tax-deductible donations can be sent to:

Bosnian Relief Fund USA, Inc. Mich./Branch, 30814 Scrivo, Warren, Mich. 48092.

Those interested in helping, please call Stjepan (Steve) Balog at (313) 751-6890 or Aisa Sandijarevic at (313) 828-3193.

Radio station says thanks

To the editor:

This past weekend WSDP completed its sports broadcast season for 1993. I would like to take this moment to thank those who made it possible.

Thank you the athletic department at Plymouth Canton Educational Park. Paul Cummings, Jim Finn and Gary Balconi were always willing to help us. Their assistance made this season possible. We would also like to thank the coaches for their assistance (Tom Mo-shimer, Bob Kohnle, Fred Thomann, Bob Blohm, Dave Van Wagoner, Bob Brodie, Al Campbell, Jim Arnold, John Gravin, Mark LaPointe, Charlie Paye and all the assistants)). WSDP was able to broadcast football, basketball, baseball and softball and the coaches assistance was invaluable.

I would also like to thank our sports broadcast sponsors. Silver sounds Professional D.J., Learning for Everyone, The Plymouth Tux Shop, Wesley Berry Flowers to Plymouth and Wordhouse Financial Planning all provided funds that allowed us to cover state tournaments.

Most importantly thank you for listening to sports on WSDP. Live sports broadcasts have given students a unique learning opportunity. We appreciate the support of the Plymouth-Canton Community and invite those unfamiliar with us to check us out this fall

Citizen urges new millage vote

To the editor:

Due to the defeat of the millage and Proposal A, the Wayne-Westland school district is again facing drastic cuts, which I feel will be detrimental to the education of our children.

Anyone who went through the cuts two and three years ago should realize the full effect they had on the educational programs especially the junior and senior high levels. The schools are just now recovering.

People have to stop looking at excuses of why they can't vote "yes" on a millage increase. Living in Wayne-Westland doesn't mean just paying taxes and keeping your property up. It also means supporting the local school district and keeping our educational programs up to current standards.

Yes, there are problems plaguing the school district as there are in districts all over, but voting "no" on millage increases is not the answer. And constantly using low MEAP scores as an excuse to vote "no" has to stop. With the cuts being implemented this year, children will never have a chance to show improvement in the scaled-down curriculum that will have to be put in place.

The citizens of Wayne-Westland need to take a long, hard look at what kind of future they are forcing on the children of this school district.

Businessmen drive for children's charity

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Gerald D. Fitzgerald was the fifth-place overall winner in the Grand Tour for Children Road Rally last month.

The Oakwood Health Services president and chief executive officer recently combined his two passions in life—kids and cars—when he participated in the eighth running of the Children Road Rally.

A veteran of many racing events, this was Fitzgerald's fourth Grand Tour. He teamed up with Jim Demmer, vice president of Jack Demmer Ford, and drove a limited production 1993 Mustang Cobra which was provided by Jack Demmer Ford.

Fitzgerald's fifth-place overall finish was his second-best showing ever. He finished fourth in 1991.

"It's great to get out on the road and travel the back roads of this beautiful state," Fitzgerald said. "There's a lot of comradery between drivers, and the entire week-end is a lot of fun.

"But, what makes the whole thing worthwhile is the children—that kids benefit from all of us going out and competing."

The three-day, 1,200-mile event, included time speed-distance rallies, poker runs, autocross runs and visits to more than a dozen children's agencies throughout the state.

Due to increased sponsorship, including Buick, Michelin and WJR radio, each participant's entire $600 entry fee will be donated directly to the Michigan Association of Children's Alliances (MACA).

MACA supports specialized training for child welfare professionals, enhances advocacy on behalf of troubled Michigan children and families and promotes a public/private partnership to ensure the well being of the children in the state.

MACA hopes to gather $30,000 this year. The rally started in Detroit at the General Motors building with 22 vehicles participating.

Drivers passed through Flint, Traverse City, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Clinton, Marshall and Troy where the final autocross took place at the GM Tech Center.

Demmer stated he was very pleased with the results of the race.

"It's not often that you can go out and have fun doing what you like to do, and support a good cause in the process," Demmer said.

A road rally is a motor sport which tests a team's ability to coordinate navigational skill and precision timing.

Competitors must maneuver their way over a previously unseen route at a prescribed average speed by using route instructions provided at the start of the event. The top three finishers receive prize money.

Fitzgerald said he wasn't too disappointed with his fifth-place finish.

"No prize money, but there are a lot of good teams out there," Fitzgerald said. "I like to compete, and, of course, I like to win, but this is kind of a release for me."

"And, like I said, the cause makes the effort worth it. Anything we can do to help these children has got my support."

Club members hear state

Republican Party chairman

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Michigan is a better place to live today than it was two and a half years ago, David Doyle, state Republican chairman, said recently.

The 34-year-old career politician was in Canton Township addressing members and guests of the Canton Economic Club during Wednesday luncheon activities. The state economy and business in general, according to the chief GOP associate, are looking up.

"Since January," said Doyle, "we've experienced 117,000 new jobs. No state has seen unemployment drop so fast in the last two years. And unemployment rates overall, for the first time since 1966, have dropped below the national average. (On) issue after issue we're seeing the light of day," he added.

Doyle, a graduate of Oakland University, has served in a variety of Republican leadership positions, including director of the failed Jack Louma for governor campaign, and as Michigan executive director of the successful Bush/Quayle crusade in 1988. He took over chairmanship of the state GOP in 1991, and has since worked the state lecture circuit on behalf of the Engler administration and other Republican causes.

Doyle said since John Engler narrowly defeated ex-governor James Blanchard in 1991, the former state Senate majority leader has managed to trim a $1.8 billion deficit, balanced three fiscal budgets (without raising taxes) and has "kept his promise to increase K-12 education spending (Doyle says $370 million)."

Also, Doyle said, the governor has introduced "bold, new welfare programs, aimed at breaking the cycle of dependency."

"John Engler has put Michigan on the right track, again," Doyle added.

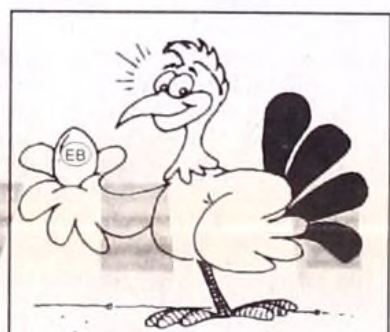

Also the governor has steered a recent repeal of so-called "death taxes" through the state House and Senate signalling the end of inheritance taxes under $600,000. Tax abatement is still in the "very heated" stage, Doyle added, after last week's failure of the Engler-sponsored Proposal A measure.

Not everyone, however, was totally enamored with Doyle's message. Ginnie Hauk, visiting with a contingent of township senior citizens, suggested that since her husband would be losing his Willow Run manufacturing job when General Motors closes the site, that Doyle (ie: Gov. Engler) could locate a new job "within 50 miles," Hauk wryly added.

"By reducing the cost of doing business," Doyle retorted, "we're focused on that (keeping jobs in Michigan) area. It's a top priority."

The Canton Economic Club typically meets the third Wednesday of each month at Geneva Church on Sheldon Road, but has recessed until September.

Clinical tests found people on a low-fat diet can safely eat certain eggs from hens fed a special diet.

Chairman of the state Republican Party David Doyle said Wednesday signs point to an improving economy and a drop of the unemployment rate. The career politician was in Canton Township to address the Canton Economic Club.

Controversy continues

Plans for construction of county juvenile facility are questioned

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

While it may appear that its objections to county plans to spend tax dollars for construction of a juvenile facility have flip-flopped, members of the Conference of Western Wayne (CWW) believe their stance has not changed.

At its June meeting, CWW members emphasized that they continue to object to any use of the tax money which does not conform to the intent of the 1988 ballot language.

In August 1988, voters approved a 10-year, one-tenth mill tax to construct a juvenile offender institution. None of the funds has been spent on a structure at the present time.

Earlier this year, the 18-member CWW voiced objections to Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara's announcement that he would not construct a juvenile facility with the one-tenth mill that is being collected from local communities. At that time, McNamara said the construction cost would be prohibitive. However, after some communities requested that the tax monies be returned to them, the county executive announced that a facility would be built.

Recently, the 15-member Downriver Community Conference (DCC) adopted a resolution to withhold the one-tenth mill collections until the county demonstrates its intent to spend the money on construction and operation of a juvenile offender facility.

CWW Executive Director Dan Gilmartin told representatives of the local cities and townships that he wants to clarify the CWW position before the July meeting of the two bodies.

"Ed McNamara is not our enemy. We can work with him, not alienate him," said Belleville Mayor Glenn Silvenis, requesting an amiable settlement of the issue.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack said he felt criticism of McNamara's latest announcement will appear to be contradictory.

"If we criticized him for taking tax dollars and not spending them (on the juvenile facility), we can't go back and criticize him for doing what he said they would do," Yack said.

"How can we take an official position against the ballot language," said Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jakokes.

Jakokes suggested that the CWW ask the county executive what type of facility he plans to build and the projected cost and time frame.

"It (the construction announcement) is nothing more than a smoke screen to delay the decision-making process," Jakokes said. "If the county can build the facility, let them build it. If they can't, the money should be returned to the local communities for use in their own youth programs."

Jakokes said the county should follow the guidelines of the ballot language. If not, the money should be returned, and its expenditure for local youth programs formally adopted.

"The number one issue is that before money is spent, it should be approved by the voters," said CWW Chairman Chris Johnson.

Gilmartin said he will draft a letter to the county executive clarifying the CWW position.

Mammoth discovery brings dino-mania close to home

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

The recent national obsession with dinosaurs has hit close to home with the discovery of several Mastodon bones just 34 miles from Wayne.

Harry Brennan of Harry's Furniture in Saline decided last year that he wanted to dig a lake on his land, just south of Ann Arbor near Clinton. Brennan, who retired from the furniture business a few years ago, wanted to create a lake that his 11 grandchildren could enjoy and possibly build houses around once they got older. Brennan also wanted to start a sand and gravel business, currently called Saline Super Soil.

Brennan was amazed in January 1992, when he unearthed a half a pelvis, as long as a person's arm, a vertebra and half a jaw bone, still holding teeth and a tusk.

"We knew we hit something big," Harry Brennan's son Mark said.

Brennan, who was leery about notifying local authorities, called Professor Dan Fisher at the University of Michigan Museum. Fisher told Brennan he had uncovered Mastodon bones, which are a common discovery in Michigan. Bones from almost 250 Mastodons have been documented.

"About one Mastodon skeleton is encountered every year in this part of Michigan and surrounding states," Fisher said.

The Mastodon was similar to an elephant, weighing four to six tons and was about 8 to 10 feet high at the shoulders. Mastodons differed from Asian and African elephants with shorter legs and a longer body.

Fisher was permitted to do some small scale digging during the winter months and by May 1992, he and his crew were excavating the land with Brennan.

Bones were uncovered as little as 4 to 10 feet below the surface, Fisher said.

"It's a very common depth to find skeletons from the late ice age," he said.

Fisher explained that 10,000 years is not that long in comparison to the existence of the planet.

During the dig, Fisher real-

The footprints are extremely unusual. They are the first in the world of any Mastodon as far as I know. They are the largest and best preserved trackway of any fossil elephant.

- Dan Fisher

ized that thousands of years ago there had been a lake exactly where Brennan was digging. Saline is named for a salt spring, which provided ancient animals with salt needed in their diets.

Mark Brennan said the new lake is already four acres long and has been named "Mastodon Lake."

A unique discovery was made when Fisher began unearthing the Mastodon's skeleton. Mastodon tracks, which as far as Fisher knows are the first ever found, were uncovered.

"The footprints are extremely unusual. They are the first in the world of any Mastodon as far as I know. They are the largest and best preserved trackway of any fossil elephant," Fisher said.

Fisher said 50 percent of the Mastodon's skeleton was found and footprints from other Mastodons, mostly made by an adult male, were discovered.

Brennan donated the skeletal remains to the Museum of Paleontology at the University of Michigan, however the footprints could not be removed.

The trail of more than 20 footprints had to be studied in the earth, so not to risk destruction. Another trail apparently made by a mother and calf seemed to cross the first.

Some of the footprints were photographed, copied with a mold and buried again to preserve them for future scientists. Fisher said the male footprints were about 20 inches wide but it was difficult to tell how long they were because the animal's hind feet stepped in nearly the same place as its forefeet. Fisher estimated the feet length at approximately 20 to 25 inches.

Remains from wildlife dating back 11,000 years, just before the end of the last Great Ice Age, were found on Brennan's farm. Skeletons from muskrat, fish clams and snails were discovered. Remains of a Scott's moose similar to the moose, but with longer legs and more complex antlers, were unearthed. Wood gnawed by giant beavers with large heads and bodies the size of black bear was found. Pleistocene muskrat burrows were also found, establishing the ancient pond shoreline.

Brennan does not plan to complete the dig until the year 2000, Mark Brennan said. He decided to increase the size of his lake to help resurrect the former lake to its previous form so Fisher could perform further research in the area.

Fisher was also notified by a nearby neighbor that Mastodon bones had previously been found on his property and he was starting to dig. However, the landowner could not wait for Fisher and his crew to excavate the land, so they observed as bones were uncovered. Fisher received some Mastodon bones and a skull from the second landowner.

Wood shop turns out dinosaurs by hundreds

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

During the past six years, 81-year-old Albert (Grandpa) Harris has turned out hundreds - perhaps, thousands - of dinosaurs in his Belleville Road workshop, and it looks as if his business will never be extinct.

"Dinosaurs have been popular with the kids ever since I started my woodworking shop, but they are more popular than ever now," Harris said. "I don't know why kids are so fascinated with them, but the dinosaurs have always been the most popular wooden toy that I've made."

Currently, Harris is displaying a not-for-sale dinosaur with ferocious teeth and a threatening expression.

"My grandson sent this dinosaur to me from college, and I won't part with it," the Belleville craftsman said.

Harris is a familiar sight at area craft shows, fairs and festivals where he displays his handcrafted wooden dinosaurs, and exchanges small talk with youngsters and their parents.

"I sell dinosaur eggs at six for a dime. Sometimes, the kids are hesitant about eating the eggs, so I tell them that I'll eat one first. I warn the kids not to eat the red ones because they're fertile, and they might hatch a dinosaur," Harris quipped, displaying a handful of egg-shaped candies. "The kids believe me, too, because when I look around the table after they've left, I find red candies scattered around."

Youngsters, especially those that have seen the new film,

Jurassic Park, apparently don't want to take any chances of being a party to the hatching of a dinosaur.

Harris makes a variety of toys from cherry, oak, birch, walnut and a very hard wood, purple heart. In addition to the dinosaurs, Harris crafts many less exotic animals, such as pigs, chickens, ducks and rabbits plus his favorite, a baby elephant.

"I also have this little wooden pull toy that I give a lifetime guarantee with. It's guaranteed to keep up with whoever is pulling it - a baby or an old person," Harris said.

His shop, located at 10151 Belleville Road, north of Interstate-94, is a favorite site for school field trips and visits by Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts.

Detroit Zoo Dinosauria exhibit is a delight

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Just when movie-goers thought it was safe to venture out, the dinosaurs are back.

Even if you closed your eyes during the scariest portions of Jurassic Park, the Tyrannosaurus Rex, Velociraptor and Stegosaurus are big as life and ready for another awe-inspiring appearance.

More than 20 animated mechanical dinosaurs plus numerous children's activities are featured in the Dinosauria exhibit at the Detroit Zoo, located in Royal Oak.

A four-acre site, landscaped to resemble the pre-historic time when dinosaurs roamed through the earth, is located just west of the camel yard at the zoo.

Featured in the Detroit Zoo exhibit, which will be open through Sept. 12, are Woolly Mammoths, a saber-tooth cat, Giant Sloth plus an Apatosaurus, Triceratops and Dilophosaurus - names known to most people under the general term of "dinosaur."

Youngsters, who are caught up in the current dinosaur-mania, however, seem to be able to recognize the various types of pre-historic creatures as easily as they can identify household pets.

One of the most recognizable of the dinosaurs is the Tyrannosaurus Rex, which lived in western North America and China approximately 66 million years ago. The Tyrannosaurus Rex, which is 17 feet high and 50 feet long, was thought to be the most vicious and largest creature to ever walk on earth. However, pound for pound, the three- to four-foot tall Velociraptor was among the most powerful predators. Its powerful jaws had long rows of bladed teeth and its hands and feet consisted of sickle claws. The diet of both were other animals.

The Detroit Zoo also features a replica of an Apatosaurus from the late Jurassic period - some 144 million years ago. The faint of heart will feel comforted to know that the 15-feet-long, 75-foot-high creature dined on plants. Often called the Brontosaurus, the creature weighed up to 30 tons. Its small, peg-like teeth could only crop plants, not chew them.

Zoo visitors may purchase tickets to the Dinosauria exhibit at the front entrance for $2.50 per person. The exhibit is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The exhibit also will be open until 8 p.m. every Wednesday.

A baby Apatosaurus is among the favorite exhibits at the Dinosauria exhibit.

Dinosaurs are now superstars

Move over Arnold, the real Terminators have invaded theaters this summer, and they have no sense of humor whatsoever.

Sure, maybe they did send one of their nastiest cast members to disembowel a nasty lawyer while he was hiding in a toilet, but that really doesn't count as being humorous.

And, while parents have been strongly cautioned not to take smaller children to see this movie, none of those cautions may be strong enough.

Small children will be terrified. Older children will be frightened. And adults won't admit they had more than a start of two while trying to crunch their popcorn and dots.

The special effects are without flaw and put poor Swartzenegger's pitiful effort in The Last Action Hero to even further shame. For those choosing just one movie and who have nerves of steel and a lot of courage, Jurassic Park is not to be missed, if only for the demonstration of what real movie special effects can, and should be.

Real Estate

Safety begins at home

Vacationers should take home safety precautions before trips

Summer is the time of year when many of us are thinking about going on that much needed vacation. Here are some preventive steps you can take before going on vacation, that will help give your house the appearance that you are still home. These tips will help to reduce your risk of being burglarized.

1. a) Set automatic timers in the living room, bedroom and kitchen.

b) Consider setting automatic timers for your radio and television set - especially during daytime hours.

c) Automatic timers are great gift ideas! Their cost ranges between approximately $4.00 and $14.00.

2. If you were locked out of your home, how would you get in? Secure this location first.

3. Lock all the doors.

a) Use a single cylinder deadbolt lock with a 1" throw to secure exterior doors.

b) Use a metal rod to secure sliding glass windows.

4. Lock all of the windows and screens.

a) Use a metal rod to secure sliding glass windows.

5. Fill out a card at the post office to indicate specific dates that delivery should be stopped/restarted.

6. Notify your newspaper of the specific dates that delivery should be stopped/restarted.

7. Check with your local police department concerning their policy regarding 'vacation' homes.

8. Arrange to have a reliable person care for your yard work.

9. Take your valuable items out of the master bedroom.

a) Preferably, store valuable items - jewelry, coin and stamp collections in a safety deposit box. However, in your home, use your imagination. Kitty litter, and potato chip cans are some locations used.

b) Never lock important papers in a strong box or filing cabinet. If they are not locked, a burglar may dump the contents out in your home and leave them there. If they are locked, the burglar may take them to another location. Also, finger prints may be left on them in your home.

10. Leave some curtains or drapes partially open so that a police officer or neighbor will be able to see the light from a burglar's flashlight.

11. If you rent, tell your landlord where you are going, when you expect to return, and where you can be reached in case of an emergency. You may wish to leave a key to your apartment with the landlord and have him check your apartment once or twice a week.

12. Tell at least one close neighbor where you are going, when you expect to return, and where you can be reached in case of an emergency.

13. If you have an alarm system, set and check it to be certain it is functioning properly. Ensure that the alarm will reset itself.

14. Check with your local police department regarding information on Operation Identification and Neighborhood Watch programs in your city.

15. Turn on your answering machine to receive messages while you're away - do not say that you are not home.

16. Insure valuables and keep up-to-date inventory of them - place the inventory in a safety deposit box at your bank. Video record, valuable items in your home for insurance purposes and police identification.

17. Ensure ladders are inaccessible.

18. Don't leave a key under the mat or hidden anywhere.

19. If you have an old car, leave it in your driveway/let a neighbor park his car in your driveway.

20. Block your basement windows so a burglar can't see in - styrofoam can be used.

These steps are great to remember to do when we go on vacation. However, by incorporating them into our daily routine, we will reduce the risk of being burglarized at any time. There are two key words to help us practice these preventive steps - Doing and Discipline.

Once your home is secure, enjoy your vacation worry free!

Special thanks to Sgt. Mike Terry of the Westland Police Department for his cooperation and assistance.

Simple hints can help owners sell homes

appropriate, consider adding a brass kick-plate, mail-box and porch light.

• Dripping water rattles nerves, discolors the sink and suggests faulty or worn-out plumbing. Burned-out bulbs leave prospects in the dark.

• If cabinets or closet doors stick, plane or sand them. Doors must be flush and squeak-free.

• Check and repair damaged or unsightly caulking in tubs and showers. For added allure, display your best towels, mats and shower curtains.

• For a spacious look, consider getting rid of excess furniture and add fresh curtains and colorful bedspreads.

• Make sure attic space and basements are clutter-free and clean.

• The better organized a closet, the larger it appears. Take time to box up unwanted clothes and donate them to charity.

• Pull back curtains and drapes so prospective home buyers can see how bright and cheery your home is.

• Turn lights on inside and outside the home when showing your home at night. Lights add color and warmth and help make guests feel welcome.

• Rid the home of boobytraps, including roller skates, exposed extension cords, low-hanging overhead lights, etc.

• Keep friends and relatives to a minimum during home showings.

• Dogs and cats should be outside or next door during visits.

• When it's time to show your home, turn down the television and stereo.

• Be friendly, but don't force conversation. Guests most times want to view a home with minimal distraction.

• Never apologize for shortcomings—accentuate the positive.

• Don't distract potential buyers with offers to sell furnishings you no longer need.

• If you decide to use a real estate sales person, try to remain in the background if at all possible. The sales associate is trained and knows what home buyers want to hear.

• When prospects want to talk price, terms or other real estate matters, let them speak to an expert, if possible.

• Try to schedule showings yourself or through your realtor. Potential home buyers just stopping by could hurt a sale.

For more details concerning home sales and sales hints contact your local real estate sales person or visit the bookstore.

1993 Chevrolet Caprice

Caprice is best value in class

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Up front, let's apologize profusely to Louis Chevrolet.

In this (terribly opinionated) job of reviewing the huge diversity of cars and trucks available today, you often find yourself returning a magnificent world-class sedan for something of (seemingly) less value—such is the case with the recently road-tested Caprice Classic LS.

Despite initial wincing impressions, the 1993 Caprice turned out to be a sound, roomy and well-packaged vehicle boasting basic Caprice values that have served, thank you, drivers and law enforcement agencies from around the globe for the last 26 years.

It's a simple case of apples and oranges.

Redesigned rear wheel wells and tail lights (essentially killing the upside bathtub joke) have added a sleeker exterior finish further contributing quiet city/highway miles under the strong direction of a Chevrolet designed V-8, delivering a miserly 400 miles from 23 gallons of fuel (roughly 18 mpg). Not bad for a 2-ton sedan.

Caprice also features standard power windows; reading lamps; an AM/FM radio with digital clock and dual rear speakers (optional Bose speakers); driver's side airbag, an energy absorbing steering column; child-proof doors and two new interior flavors (ruby and medium beige).

Inside, Caprice comes equipped with:

- A new high-output A/C blower motor improves passenger icing capabilities.

- Upgraded fabrics and door trim featuring standard Scotchgard fabric protection.

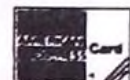

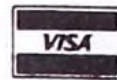

Road feel is surprising secure for a larger sedan. Equipped with standard police cruiser (independent) suspension, including heavy-duty anti-roll bars, springs and shocks, coupled with 15-inch touring tires, handling is firm, even at higher speeds.

Nothing is more pleasant than discovering a good old-fashioned value in an American touring sedan. Sorry for the slight, Louis.

C H A M P I O N S H I P

JUNE 21 - 27, 1993
TPC of Michigan • Dearborn

A Spring Newspapers Special Section

On course

Hole-by-hole, players enjoy the challenge of Dearborn tournament

Hole 1
Par 4
408 Yards

Par is a good score on this opening hole. With a large fairway bunker on the left side of the landing area, this slight dogleg to the right requires a well-positioned drive. If your ball lands too far on the right side of the fairway your approach to the green will be blocked by a large cottonwood tree. The green is encircled by four bunkers.

Hole 2
Par 4
411 Yards

A good straight-away hole with a lake running the entire left side of the hole. Two bunkers and the lake guard the green. Club selection will be important.

Hole 3
Par 5
547 Yards

Players will hit their drives out of a chute on this par 5. The landing area is guarded by a fairway bunker to the left. Second shots must avoid three bunkers that dot the right side of the fairway. A large waste bunker borders the left side and must be positioned to allow for a clear approach around a cottonwood tree into the green. The green is guarded by sand on three sides. Birdie is not out of the question.

Hole 4
Par 3

210 Yards

This average-length par 3 is well-bunkered with sand in the front and on the left and right sides of the green. The green offers several pin placements. A well-positioned tee shot could result in a birdie. Golfers will use a mid iron unless the wind is a factor.

Hole 5
Par 4
394 Yards

You may want to hit a fairway wood from the elevated tee on this slight dogleg left. Wetlands border the fairway up the left side and a fairway bunker protects the right. Your approach shot to this green must carry over wetlands and avoid two bunkers, front and back left, as well as a grassy hollow on the right. A great opportunity for a birdie.

Hole 6
Par 4
340 Yards

Most players will reluctantly hit an iron or fairway wood off the tee and a short iron into the green. A lake guards the entire fairway on the right side and a peninsula bulk-headed green is protected by a bunker front left. Too much club and your ball will find a sandy pot bunker behind the green. With a strong wind blowing, a brave golfer can hit a drive at the green. this will prove to be a pivotal hole during the tournament.

Hole 7
Par 5
542 Yards

The player who hits a well-positioned tee shot to the right side of this medium-length, straight-away par 5 may have a chance to catch this green in two. Huge trees down the left side of the fairway and a large swale in between the landing area and the green make this hole demanding. Great opportunity for birdie.

Hole 8
Par 3
182 Yards

The second of four demanding par 3 holes requires a well-struck medium iron if bogey is to be avoided. Under-clubbing is disastrous because wetlands are the only thing in view from the tee to the green. The green is protected by two bunkers, front right and left, and grassy hollows in the back. Simply hitting the green is no guarantee of making par.

Hole 9
Par 4
432 Yards

From a slightly elevated tee the golfer heads back toward the clubhouse on one of the few holes without bunkers. A large grassy basin protects the left side of the fairway and a deep swale separates the landing area from the green. A tall cottonwood tree protects the green from approach shots hit from the extreme right side of the fairway.

Hole 10
Par 4
393 Yards

This short par 4 gives golfers several options for positioning the tee shot. The landing area is guarded by a large mound with two bunkers short left and another large mound with three bunkers to the right. The elevated green is protected by grassy hollows and swales. A pot bunker will swallow up your approach shot if you under-club. An excellent opportunity to make up for one of those bogies on the front nine.

Hole 11
Par 4
410 Yards

Amen corner begins here! This medium-length par 4 was designed with two landing areas. If you select the easier tee shot down the left side of the fairway you will be left with a difficult approach angle to the green. Your shot must carry over wetlands to a long, narrow green. If you can carry your drive at least 235 yards over wetlands you can elect to aim right at the green. This difficult tee shot down the right fairway must also avoid a well-positioned bunker.

Hole 12
Par 3
166 Yards

The third and shortest par 3 plays downhill to a well-guarded two-level green. A waterfall feeds a pond in front of this green, also protected on the left by wetlands and grassy swales behind.

Conventional and Advance Payment Program lease payments based on '93 Villager GS with PEP 962A MSRP $20,104, '93 Sable GS with PEP 451A MSRP $19,899 and Cougar XR7 with PEP 260A MSRP $16,643 excluding title, taxes, license fee. Monthly lease payment based on an average capitalized cost of 91.37% of MSRP for Villager and 89.22% for Sable and 95.00% for Cougar for 24-month closed-end Red Carpet leases purchased in the Great Lakes Region for the period 12/92-2/93. Some payments higher, some lower. See participating dealers for payment and terms. For special lease terms, take new retail delivery from dealer stock by 7/5/93. Lessee may have the option to buy vehicle at lease end at a price to be negotiated with the dealer at signing. Lessee responsible for excess wear and tear and $.11 per mile over 30,000 miles. Credit approval/insurability determined by Ford Credit. Cash savings based on comparison of total of monthly payments plus cash down payment under a conventional 24-month Red Carpet lease vs. one lease payment under the Advance Payment Program lease, $8,422 vs. $7,396 on Villager; $8,198 vs. $7,254 on Sable; $8,736 vs. $7,979 on Cougar. Take new vehicle retail delivery from dealer stock by 7/5/93. *MSRP for Topaz GS 2-door includes $500 cash back, excludes title and taxes. See your dealer for his price. *For cash back take new retail delivery from dealer stock by 9/22/93. *Always wear your safety belt. *Except on models with privacy glass.

Top golfers set to compete

By Terry Jacoby
Sports Writer

There is no question golfers like the attention from knowledgeable golf fans in Southeastern Michigan. Most of them also enjoy playing the Tournament Players Club of Michigan in Dearborn.

Actually, there are more than one million reasons why the top senior golfers in the world are in Dearborn this week. And we are talking about the $1,200,000 purse, the second largest official money purse in Senior PGA Tour history.

The winner will walk away with $180,000 with the runner-up receiving $105,000.

That's why Nicklaus, Trevino, Floyd, Weiskopf, Palmer and Rodriguez are all meeting at one of Michigan's finest golf facilities.

So what does the crystal ball say about this year's tournament? Who is the favorite to win the 1993 Senior Players Championship and take home that big check?

A number of golfers in the field of 78 have a shot at walking away with the big money.

LET'S START with defending champion Dave Stockton.

"(Jim) Albus and I are the only two who know we can win on that golf course," Stockton said prior to the start of last month's Bell Atlantic Classic.

"I've been playing well this year. I feel from tee to green, my game is at its best its ever been."

He played well enough to win the Muratec Reunion pro-am in April and heading into this month's play was the tour's top birdie leader with 150.

Stockton's charge past J.C. Snead last year at the TPC of Michigan was a memorable one for the 51-year-old Californian. He nailed a 40-foot birdie putt at the 17th hole to cut Snead's lead to two strokes.

Then came the great comeback of Stockton — or downfall of Snead depending on how you viewed it.

Stockton birdied the 18th hole while Snead ended with a double-bogey for a rare three-stroke swing. The win was Stockton's first title in more than a decade and he has been playing well ever since.

THROUGH HIS first 13 events, Stockton was third on the money list with more than $330,000 in prize money.

Albus, winner of the 1991 Senior Players Championship, has also been on a roll since he won the title. Winning at the TPC appears to change people's lives.

Albus, who was 95th on the money list in 1990 with only $14,433, rocketed up to 20th on the money list after winning $301,406. And he proved 91' was no fluke when he won $404,693 in 1992.

This year he won the GTE Suncoast Classic and is currently 12th on the money list.

"I feel very comfortable on the TPC of Michigan course. It really helps me mentally to go back there since I've won there before. It's a good golf course. You've got to hit the ball and can't fake it. Several of the holes are pretty demanding. In fact, the course might be the most demanding we have all year, which is what you need for a major championship."

— Jim Albus

Albus obviously likes the TPC of Michigan.

"I feel very comfortable there," he said. "It really helps me mentally to go back there since I've won there before."

Others have played well at the TPC of Michigan despite not winning, including Snead whose 65 during last year's first round is a course record.

AND WHAT about Jack Nicklaus? "Jack is one of the favorites in any tournament he enters," Stockton said. And when Nicklaus is on, he is tough to beat.

The "Golden Bear" didn't play last year but has played the course since it first opened in 1991. He has a distinct advantage considering he designed the course.

Nicklaus was struggling earlier in the month. Following a poor showing at the Bell Atlantic Classic in late May, Nicklaus finished with a score of 298, 24 strokes off the pace, at the Memorial Tournament.

To win at the TPC takes both skill and intelligence. And compared to other courses on the Senior Tour, the TPC of Michigan is a long course which requires the big drive as well as a strong short game.

Which brings us to Raymond Floyd.

Floyd, who is among the top 10 on the money list despite only playing half of the Senior Tour events, is always a threat to win a tournament — whatever tour he is playing.

Last year on the Senior Tour, Floyd was among the best in both driving distance (273.4 yards) and hitting greens in regulation (77.8 percent).

This year, Floyd leads the tour in total driving and greens in regulation. He is second overall statistically to Isao Aoki, another golfer with a shot at the TPC trophy.

Meanwhile, Floyd has played in just four PGA tournaments through May. Playing both tours is something he doesn't want to continue doing.

"I just don't know where I'm going," he said. "I've got people pulling me from both sides, people wanting me to play their event."

OFFICIALS, GOLFERS and fans are certainly glad Floyd is playing in Dearborn this week.

Another favorite has to be Bob Charles. The former bank teller from Carterton, New Zealand has been cashing some big checks since joining the Senior Tour. His win last month at the Bell Atlantic Classic was his 20th senior win as he became the first player to earn over $4 million in career Senior Tour earnings.

He also finished first in the Doug Sanders Celebrity Classic in March and was third at the Senior Commemorative earlier this month.

Michigan native Mike Hill, the leader of this year's money list, is also playing some excellent golf. Hill, who was second last year in scoring average, has won twice this year. He finished tied for 12th place at last year's Senior Players Championship.

Al Geiberger, who finished 18th a year ago at the TPC of Michigan, is having a much better year in 1992. The California native has won two tournaments this year, is third statistically on the tour and fifth on the money list.

AND LET'S not forget about Lee Trevino. The fan favorite has played well the past two years at the TPC of Michigan and would like to add the Senior Players Championship to his already long and impressive win list.

Senior Tour newcomer Tom Weiskopf has not won a tournament, but is playing well and is quite capable of making a run this week.

"Only outstanding players will win an event like this," Miller Barber said.

And the field of 78 features plenty of outstanding players.

Arnie's army

Players bring fans in force

By Terry Jacoby
Sports Writer

"I can't believe this. I've got Arnold Palmer behind me and Jack Nicklaus in front of me. There may not be enough room for my gallery."

— Dave Stockton on his first round tee time in last month's Bell Atlantic Classic.

Ford Senior Players Championship director Brian Goin reports that ticket sales are up for this week's stop on the Senior Tour at the TPC of Michigan in Dearborn. More people means larger galleries and you can be sure there will be a lot of folks following around the popular golfers.

We'll call these guys, "the gallery boys."

So who is actually in this elite group?

Let's begin with a man who has his own battalion of fans — Arnold Palmer.

Palmer first joined the PGA tour back in 1955. A native of Latrobe, Pennsylvania, Palmer was liked immediately. He was handsome, polite and giving.

And he was good.

Twice named PGA player of the year, Palmer first won in 1955 when he finished first at the Canadian Open. His final PGA tour victory came in 1973 when he won the Bob Hope Desert Classic. In between, Palmer won 58 times for a total of 60 tour wins.

He has won 10 Senior Tour events since joining in 1980. His last came in 1988 when he won the Crestar Classic.

Although he has not won a tournament in five years, fans still chase Palmer around the golf course and around the tour. Known by name as "Arnie's Army," this large group of people still like to watch the 64-year-old Wake Forest University graduate stroll around a golf course. And it doesn't matter where he is on the leader board.

PALMER FINISHED tied for 35th place at last year's Senior Players Championship, and is looking forward to taking another swing at the very difficult TPC of Michigan course.

"Considering the importance of the tournament, the caliber of the golf course and the strength of the field, I have always considered my victory

"Considering the importance of the tournament, the caliber of the golf course and the strength of the field, I have always considered my victories in the SENIOR PLAYERS Championship at Canterbury Golf Club as two of the most important in my senior career, right along with the U.S. Senior Open and PGA Seniors Championship. I had many fond memories of Canterbury from my amateur days in Cleveland, and it was great to see a lot of my old friends those four years we played the event at Canterbury."

— Arnold Palmer

ries in the Senior Players Championship at Canterbury Golf Club as two of the most important in my senior career," Palmer said.

Other golfers, as well as his many fans, would like to see Palmer in the hunt for another title.

"I think it would be a great thing for the game and for the Senior Tour if Palmer won," said Stockton, this year's defending champion at the TPC of Michigan. "He is one of those guys you always root for."

ANOTHER POPULAR member of the "gallery boys" is Chi Chi Rodriguez. A native of Bayamon, Puerto Rico, Rodriguez is known more now for his great sense of humor and good nature as he is for his ability to make birdies.

When Rodriguez drills a putt it's a big deal. But when he drills a put and then acts as if his putter is a sword, then it's a real big deal for the crowd.

When Chi Chi is playing, the gallery is usually smiling. In part because he never takes the game too seriously.

"I still have a lot of fun out here," said Rodriguez as he put on his coat following an 18-hole pro-am in Malvern, Pennsylvania prior to last month's Bell Atlantic Classic.

"To win the Senior Players Championship, you've got to have a great deal of skill and intelligence," he said.

And what about the mental side of golf?

"I don't know anything about that. I just walk up and hit the ball and go find it and hit it again," he said, smiling.

Rodriguez always seems to have a good time.

HAVING A GOOD time is also the trademark of Lee Trevino, known as the "Merry Mex."

Like Palmer and Rodriguez, Trevino too has a large number of fans watching him do his thing. Trevino is one of the most recognizable figures in all of sports.

A great success on the PGA tour, Trevino has been one of the Senior Tour's top players since he joined in 1989. For the second time in three years, Trevino was the top money winner on the tour in 1992.

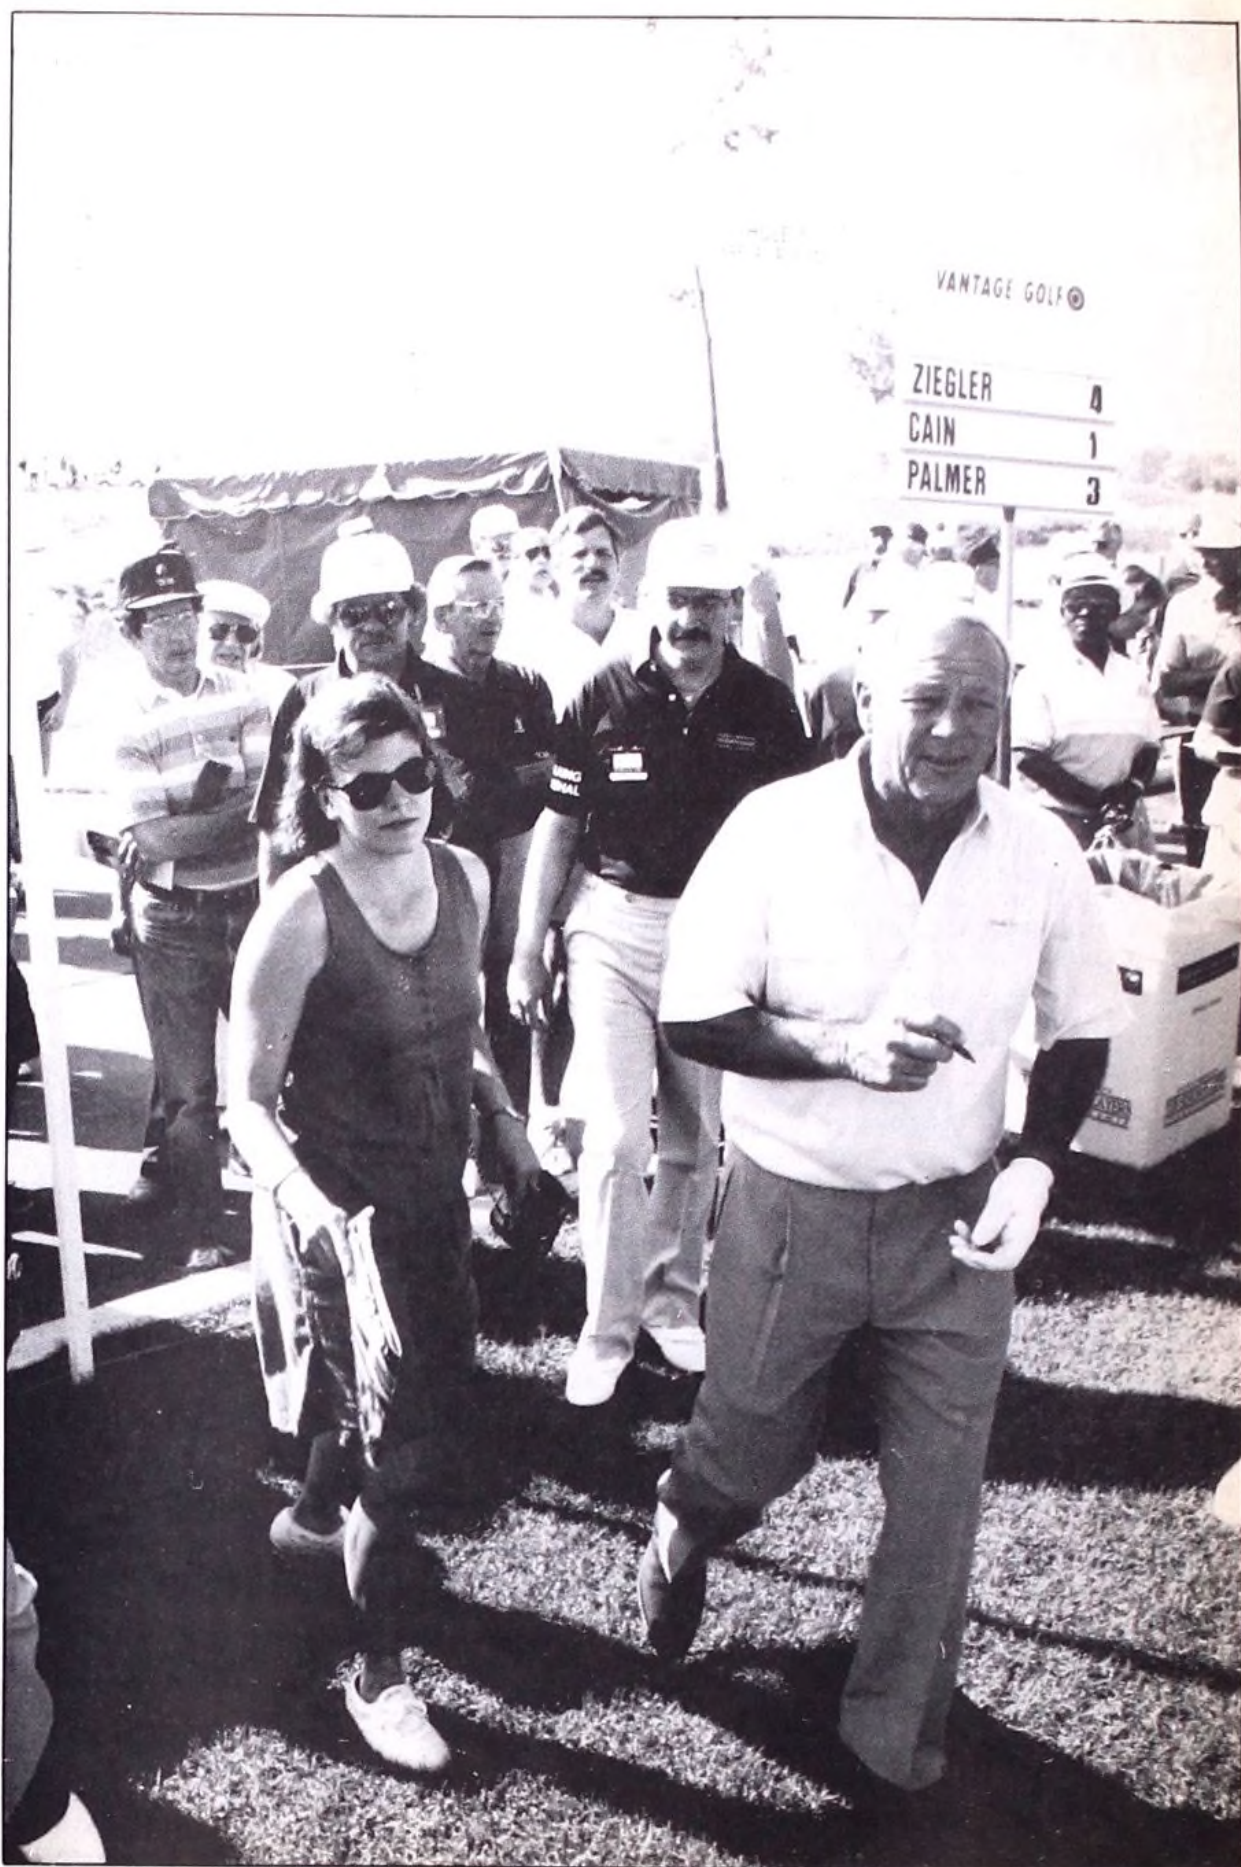

He won five tournaments along the way last year, but has yet to win at the TPC of Michigan. He has come close, however, finishing second both years.

"I feel like the TPC of Michigan is to my liking and I'm looking forward to this year's tournament," Trevino said.

HE REALIZES WITH success comes attention. And Lee Trevino receives plenty of attention.

"I'm fortunate in what I do," Trevino said prior to the start of last month's Bell Atlantic Classic. "If you ask any celebrity where they are most uncomfortable, it's signing autographs. The ones that annoy you are the ones with no pen and paper. But I don't mind. If they don't ask, that means I haven't accomplished anything."

And all this week, people will be asking Trevino, Palmer and Rodriguez for their autographs as they follow them around the TPC of Michigan course.

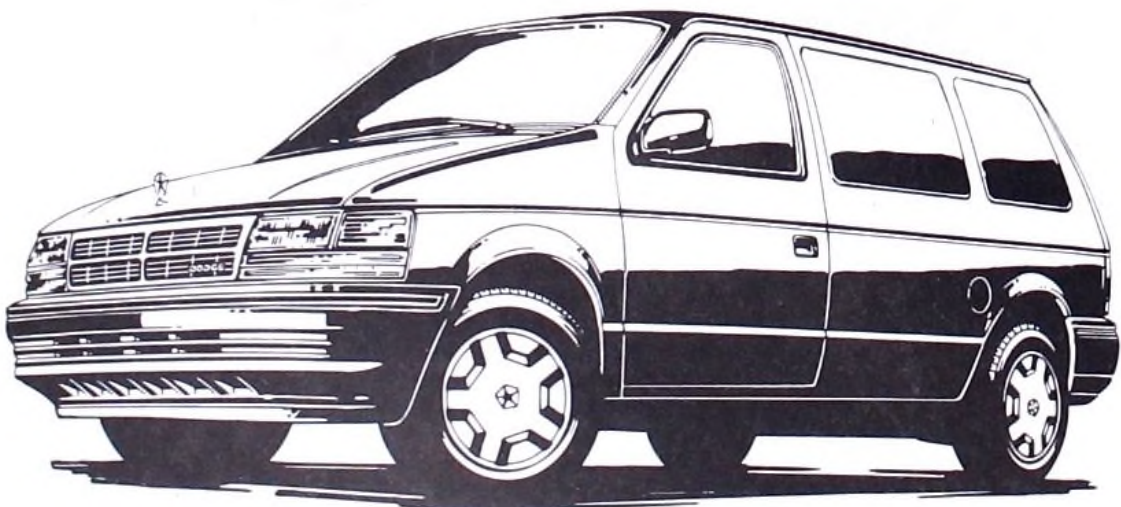

Wherever he goes, Arnold Palmer brings out an army of fans to enjoy his mastery of the art of golf.

Stockton hopes for a repeat win

By Terry Jacoby
Sports Writer

Dave Stockton has accomplished a great deal since he became a professional golfer in 1964. He won the PGA Championship in 1970 and again in 1976, and played on two United States Ryder Cup teams.

In 1991 the California native captained the Ryder Cup team, and last June, Stockton won the Senior Players Championship at the TPC of Michigan in Dearborn.

But after all his experience and all his wisdom — being selected to captain a Ryder Cup team requires great knowledge of the game as well as knowing the top players' strengths — Stockton is still fascinated by the game.

"Golf is just amazing to me," Stockton said following the pro-am of the Bell Atlantic Classic in Malvern, Pennsylvania. "The interesting side is the mental side. Golf is 90-percent mental and it's often ignored."

"People take too long when they play golf. They think far too much. I just go up and hit the ball. If it's bad, I go up and hit it again."

Sounds simple.

And to Stockton, golf has become easier as he has gotten older and wiser.

DURING HIS career on the regular PGA tour, Stockton won 11 tournaments, including the two majors. He made over $1 million over the course of 26 years.

But Stockton seems to be getting better as he gets older. And maybe the awareness of golf's mental side is starting to pay off in fewer strokes and bigger paychecks.

"I've been looking forward to this summer because I'm playing well," said Stockton, who looked quite fit and relaxed after playing 18 holes in the rain.

"From tee to green, my game is the best it has ever been," he said. "I'm hitting the ball a lot further than I ever did and I am putting pretty well."

Stockton's 1992 season has been one of consistency.

Through May, Stockton was in the top 10 in four statistical categories, including first in number of birdies (150) and fifth in putting.

ON APRIL 25, he won the Muratée Reunion Pro-Am near Dallas, Texas and finished third at the Pain Webber Invitational the week prior to the Bell Atlantic Classic.

Stockton was third on the money list with more than $337,000 in 13 tournament appearances.

Snead hopes for 2nd chance

It all depends on how you look at it.

You could argue that Dave Stockton played four rounds of excellent golf — including a four-under-par 68 on the final day of last year's Mazda Presents the Senior Players Championship — to win the title with an 11-under 277.

Or you could go for the jugular and say, "Man J.C. Snead choked big time."

Fans (that's short for fanatics, remember) being what they are usually opt for the latter.

If Snead didn't actually choke, he sure had trouble breathing on the fateful final hole of last year's event.

HE WAS LEADING Stockton by two strokes as the duo approached the 18th tee and all he had to do was par the relatively harmless hole for the win.

His drive, however, landed in the swamp and for all we know the ball, along with Snead's dreams of victory, is still lying there wedged under a cattail.

Snead ended up with a double bogey on 18 and had to settle for sharing second-place money with Lee Trevino one stroke behind Stockton.

The media (servants of the fanatics, remember) subtly surrounded Snead in the locker room and asked compassionate questions like, "Did you get a little nervous out there, J.C.?"

"I really wasn't nervous. I wasn't even thinking about it," Snead claimed at the time. "I just pulled it to the left. I didn't get it up in the air and I didn't hit it straight. If it had been anywhere to the right, I'd have been OK."

IT WASN'T. And while the word "choke" never left his lips, Snead admitted feeling a bit crunched in crunch time.

"That was the biggest disappointment I ever had," he said. "I rolled over and died (of asphyxiation?) when I had a chance to win. It's like having two shots on the foul line at the end of a game and shooting two air balls."

Snead's willingness to face the music and his obvious disappointment forced the wolves to back off a bit.

As time has passed, Snead has thought a lot about what happened and, with his big chance to make

"I'm looking forward to defending my championship. Anytime you win on a course, you feel good about going back there the next year. I do think I can play better tee to green than I played last year. The SENIOR PLAYERS victory was quite an experience for me. It was very special to win with my son, Ron, as my caddie. He was six years old the last time I won a major. It was an emotional high, and in many respects the victory meant more to him because he knew he played a big part in it. I enjoyed the TPC of Michigan. The golf course by Jack Nicklaus' standards was a lot more mellow than some. It's a good test of golf and of major championship caliber."

— Dave Stockton

It's easy to see that Stockton is playing well heading into a tournament he has already proven he can win. So it's not surprising to hear him say, "I am looking forward to returning to Dearborn."

Stockton's first-place finish last year was both dramatic in the way it happened and special because it had been 16 years since he last won a tournament.

The last time Stockton had heard the roar of the crowd came in 1976 when he walked up the 18th fairway at Congressional Country Club en route to his second PGA Championship.

TO WIN any tournament is special, but to win a major is as good as it gets.

"To me, it was like winning the 'Players Championship' on the other tour," he said. "The guys think it's the toughest field to beat, so undoubtedly, I was playing against the best senior players, and that gave me a great deal of satisfaction."

It also gave him a much larger bank account. The win helped Stockton capture the 1992 Senior Tour Rookie of the Year award and more than $650,000 in official earnings, more than four times what he made during his best year on the regular tour.

And what about this year's TPC Senior Players Championship?

"Anytime you win on a course, you feel good about going back there the next year," he said. "I do think I can play better tee to green than I played last year."

STOCKTON SAYS a defending champion has a distinct advantage.

"(Jim) Albus and I are the only two who know we can win on that golf course," said Stockton, a 1964 graduate of the University of Southern California.

"And I enjoy the TPC of Michigan. The course still has a ways to go, but it's a good test of golf and of major championship caliber."

Stockton is a very open and honest man. He says what's on his mind, but doesn't offend anyone. While some professional athletes shy away from attention, he seems to enjoy himself when talking to the media or out on a pro-am.

During the TPC media day last month and during a press conference prior to the Bell Atlantic Classic, Stockton appeared to be having a good time.

REGARDING J.C. Snead's collapse on the final hole of last year's Senior Players Championship, Stockton said, "they should name the creek he hit into after him. I don't say that in a mean way. There are a lot of creeks and ponds named after people."

Stockton added, "He (Snead) almost did it again in San Antonio (The Vantage at the Dominion). We have to work with him."

On longer exemptions, Stockton said, "They have to be longer than one year. It doesn't matter at all to me because it doesn't effect me, but you have to have tradition at these tournaments."

It also doesn't hurt to have class individuals win every once in awhile. And with consecutive champions like Albus and Stockton, the Senior Players Championship has chipped in with two first-class people.

"Have you ever wrecked a car and then asked, 'Why did that have to happen to me?' That's the way I felt after last year's tournament, and I still feel that way. It was not a good experience. I don't feel like I choked. I think I relaxed too much on the final hole. I was real nervous at the 17th hole and did okay there. I headed to the 18th tee relaxed, but I screwed up. I hit a bad shot. Basically, I pulled the iron and hit the ball with the bottom of the club. If I had hit it solid it would have been a perfect tee shot. You know what they say about 'If?' Hey, that's life. I do know this. I would like to come to the last hole at the TPC of Michigan with a two-stroke lead again."

— J.C. Snead

amends rapidly improving, he is asked about it all the time.

"Have you ever wrecked a car and then asked, 'Why did that happen to me?' That's the way I felt after last year's tournament and I still feel that way," he said. "It was not a good experience."

"I DON'T FEEL like I choked. I think I relaxed too much on the final hole. I was real nervous at the 17th hole and I did OK there and I headed to the 18th tee relaxed, but I screwed up. I hit a bad shot."

"If I had hit it solid, it would have been a perfect tee shot. You know what they say about 'If.' Hey, that's life."

While C'est La Vie Snead waxed philosophical about the loss, Stockton dipped into a little psychology to explain what happened.

It was sort of a self-fulfilling prophecy thing, according to Stockton.

"I spent a day and a half pumping him up," Stockton said. "He kept talking about something going wrong. Even though he was in the lead, he wasn't happy."

"WE WERE both under pressure. We hadn't won yet and here everybody tells you how easy it is to win on the Senior Tour. He knows now that he screwed up."

And so does everyone else, which means the choke label will still be in the back of everyone's mind when Snead returns to Dearborn.

The best way to erase it will be with a victory when he hops back on the horse that threw him and that fact has not eluded Snead.

"I know this," he said. "I would like to come to the last hole at the TPC of Michigan with a two-stroke lead again."

It could happen, according to someone who knows what it takes to win on the course.

"HE'LL COME OUT like a caged lion," said 1991 Mazda Senior Players Championship Jim Albus. "But I don't know for sure if that will help him or hurt him."

Determination, plus the confidence inspired by his strong performance for the first 71 holes of the tournament should help.

But blowing it last year definitely hurt.

"I think it affected him the rest of last year," said Albus. "It's got to hurt anyone."

"To put yourself in position to win and then do what he did has got to hurt you. It's painful. It tears your guts up, but a big win will get you beyond that."

Snead's win at the Vantage at the Dominion March 11-14 "got the monkey off his back," according to Albus, but it probably didn't erase the hurt completely.

The monkey may be gone, but that little "choke" sign he was holding lingers.

Dave Stockton is hoping for a repeat of his victory this year.

A brief history

First years of Seniors Players' Tournament set exciting pace

While Dearborn may never be compared to Augusta (we have more steel than magnolias around here) in terms of tradition, the city is already developing a reputation as host of some memorable golf tournaments.

And that's after only three years of trying.

The names and even the locations of the senior tour's annual stop here have changed, but surprises and excitement have been constants whenever the game's legends have hit town.

So while we gear up for this year's Ford Senior Players Championship, let's take time out for a history lesson. Why, way back in 1990....

Dearborn played host to its first senior get-together June 8-11 that year and it was then known as the Mazda Senior Tournament Players Championship.

IT WAS PLAYED on the venerable grounds of the Dearborn Country Club, since the TPC of Michigan still looked more like a parking lot for bulldozers than a championship course.

Henry Ford himself built the country club and it was meant to furnish a nice place for his employees and their families to congregate when they weren't cranking out Model T's.

Henry probably never envisioned a pack of millionaires tearing around the course with TV cameras and thousands of spectators in tow and he may have spun a little in the grave at the sight of those Mazda signs all over the place.

But even he would have neither complained nor explained after the booming success of the event.

His club and the field's biggest star took center stage.

Most of the players raved about the lay-out of the course and its accommodations and everyone else just raved about Jack Nicklaus.

THE GOLDEN BEAR, who way back then was still a rookie on the senior tour, absolutely went wild, tying a PGA record with a four-round score of 261, which was 27 shots under par.

That's almost seven shots under per round folks. In laymen's terms, it's about one stroke under for every ball you'd probably lose playing the TPC course four times.

Nicklaus, as you would expect, was absolutely radiant after the tournament. He made $150,000 for his troubles, which was the biggest single paycheck he'd ever pocketed for winning a tournament.

And he played what, even for the game's greatest player, was an especially high caliber of golf.

"GOD I HOLED a lot of putts this week," he said at a long and pleasant post-tournament press conference. "I don't think I've ever putted four days like this."

He did that weekend and he maintained that it wasn't because the course was particularly easy. It may not be Pebble Beach, but it's not like everyone else was 20-under.

Lee Trevino was, finishing 21-under in second place, but then it was back to Jim Dent and Charles Coody, who tied for third at 16-under.

"They mixed the pins up every day and maybe they weren't all as hard as on the regular tour, but there were probably eight hard ones and a few medium ones and only a few that were easy," said Nicklaus. "I really don't understand how I shot that low."

"WHAT DID I shoot, this week, 261? That's ridiculous. I amazed myself this week."

And everyone else, including Trevino.

"He's playing extremely well," Trevino said. "He was holing them from everywhere."

The end of the 1990 tournament immediately turned people's thoughts ahead to 1991, when the event was slated to move to the TPC course.

Nicklaus, as designer of the new course, got the ball rolling at his press conference.

"The course will be fine," he predicted. "The greens are fine, the tees are fine and the fairways not too far away. I'm looking forward to it. I've done all I can here."

THE MONTHS PASSED, the new course opened up and the seniors teed off Dearborn's second annual tourney at its new site June 6, 1991.

This time, it was known as the Mazda Senior Players Championship and Nicklaus, naturally, was everybody's favorite to win the title.

There were a lot of good reasons for that. He was defending champ, he is probably the best golfer in history and, of course, he built the darn course.

And many observers figured it was built to suit the designer's game.

Reviews ranged from those who claimed to enjoy its "challenges" (which means they thought it was too tough, but weren't going to wimp out and complain about it) to Trevino, who stormed off it on Sunday muttering something about a "goat farm."

THE COURSE REALLY got his goat on No. 17 Sunday when, trailing by two strokes, he aggressively tried to make them both up by going for the green on his second shot.

It ended up inches short and in the drink, which is where Trevino's hopes wound up as well.

He'd been leading by three strokes heading into the final day, but he was soon overtaken by the eventual champion.

Nicklaus, right?

Nope.

Nicklaus shot a 289 and wound up tied for 22nd.

Atop the leader board was Jim Albus.

You know, Jim Albus, the famed club pro at the Piping Rock Country Club in Locust Valley, NY.

LIKE YOU'D EVER heard of him.

Albus fed on the course like a swarm of locusts, taking a two-stroke lead on Thursday with a six-under round of 66, hanging around the top of the chart Friday and Saturday and then shooting a 70 on Sunday to wind up at a nine-under 279.

"It's a dream come true," smiled Albus at his coronation press conference. "I think I surprised myself even more than you fellows."

"I played over my head, there's no question about that, but with the exception of guys like Jack and Trevino, that's what you have to do to win a tournament."

See how easy it is?

Hit the ball a long way, sink your putts and play over your head in crunch time. What better advice could you ever get from a pro?

THE VICTORY CHANGED Albus' life. He had never won on the regular tour and if the $150,000 Nicklaus had won the year before was his biggest purse, you can imagine what Albus' previous best had been.

He is now a fixture on the senior tour and, let's face it, will be one of the favorites again this year.

But enough of this nice guy makes good stuff.

Let's get nasty and talk about what a bear the Bear's course proved to be.

"How tough was it?" said Dave Hill in response to a question asked as he exited his own press conference. "On every (expletive deleted) tee it would have taken a good doctor to stick a needle in my (butt)."

The course designer wasn't hanging around soliciting critiques so he probably didn't hear that one, but then he probably wouldn't have minded it, either.

"ONE CHARACTERISTIC I put into all the course I build is I make a fella think on every shot," said Nicklaus. "We're playing championship golf and I want to force people to play well."

Even if they're unknown club pros from Locust Valley, NY.

The crystal ball grows less hazy as we move ahead to the third annual tournament, which was played June 11-14 of last year.

It was formally named "The Mazda Presents The Senior Players Championship," but it will be remembered by the less cumbersome nickname of "that tournament where the Snead guy choked."

That's an unfair shot at J.C. Snead, who pretty much led the way through 71 holes before it all slipped away on No. 18 Sunday.

STOCKTON WOUND UP 11-under at 277. Trevino dodged the goats and wound up tied for second with Snead one stroke back.

And that's the way it was.

So we didn't get to muse about the 1920's and simpler times and men who played for the love of the game and all that other stuff you can find in any retrospective of your favorite grand old tournament.

In three years, Dearborn has seen a legend win, an upstart come out of nowhere and a cagey veteran with a putt penchant capitalize on an unforgettable fade on the final hole.

Who is this Bobby Jones guy anyway? Didn't he play for the Sixers?

Seeking redemption from his loss last year will be Sam Snead, here looking over the lie carefully while planning his next shot.

DISTINGUISHED ACHIEVEMENT FOR QUALITY

Dearborn course keeps the golfers and fans happy

By Jeff Barr
Beauty, opulence and expertly-designed golf courses have always been the ideal locales to hosts PGA events, and the TPC of Michigan meets all three criteria.

But, the Dearborn course — like all 15 TPC courses throughout the country — have more than the golfers in mind.

Jack Nicklaus, Deane Beman and the rest of the staff the TPC of Michigan have not forgotten about the spectators.

"When (PGA Tour) Commissioner Beman designed the first TPC in Sawgrass, (Fla.), he came up with a concept with the spectator in mind," TPC of Michigan Director of Golf Billy Dettlaff said. "He called it Stadium Golf, copyrighted it, and it is a concept which is being used at all the TPC courses."

Stadium Golf is unique to TPC courses, and it has made viewing a tournament a whole new experience. No more is there a need to scramble up and down bleachers, climb trees, or fight the crowd. Stadium Golf has made watching a TPC tournament a walk in the park — literally.

"IT'S COMPLETELY different for the fan at a TPC course," Dettlaff said. "The natural terrain has been designed to make it possible for large amounts of people to all get a great view of the action. There is no need for bleachers.

"On the 18th (at the TPC of Michigan), for example, 15,000 people can enjoy the final hole of the golf tournament. (Beman) realized the importance of the spectator to the game of golf, and any spectator going to a TPC course can see that."

Fans at the upcoming Senior Players Championship will notice the fantastic viewing sites throughout the TPC of Michigan course, but there are some "prime spots" that give the informed fan an edge on the rest of the spectators.

To become an informed fan, read on:

■ Twelfth hole, par-3, 166 yards: If you're into panoramic beauty, waterfalls, ponds, grassy swales and wetlands, this hole has it all.

And, it's all packed into 166 yards. The tee is elevated, so spectators who are lucky enough to get a spot at the 12th tee will have one of the most breathtaking views on the entire course.

Not only that, but if you turn around you can watch players on the 11th fairway. It's a short hole which cuts down on available space, but this one is worth getting up early.

■ Eighth hole, par-3, 182 yards: The main entrance to the course has been moved this year, and the eighth hole will be the very first hole you see.

It also provides one of the best, and most pleasant, sites to watch the action.

"Coming in from the east side of the course and onto No. 8 will really give people a great first impression of the course," Dettlaff said. "There is a real pretty walkway as they march along Rotunda (Road) and there is some beautiful spectator mounding that gives the spectators a beautiful view of the green."

The eighth hole is the second of four demanding par-3 holes. It requires a well-struck medium iron if a bogey is to be avoided. Underclubbing is disastrous because wetlands are the only thing in view from the tee to the green.

The green is protected by two bunkers, front right and left, and grassy hollows in the back. Hitting the green is no guarantee of making par.

"Remember, the eighth hole is the first hole the people will see, so if they want to stay there a while, they'll have to get there early," Dettlaff. "I have an idea that's going to be a real hot spot."

■ Seventh hole, par-5, 542 yards: This hole is not only a cosmetically attractive place to spend some time at the tournament, but it could also provide some of the most exciting shots of the day.

The player who hits a well-positioned tee shot to the right side of the par-5 may have a chance to reach the green in two. Huge trees down the left side of the fairway and a large swale in between the landing area and the green make this hole demanding.

But, if the first two shots are struck just right, it provides a great chance for a birdie. That's where the fun comes in for the spectator.

"Once again, this hole has some great mounding for the spectator, so there are a lot of excellent places to watch," Dettlaff said. "There are going to be a lot of interesting shots to watch, too. They'll be able to see the real long-batters take aim at the green in two, and that's always fun."

"And, the guys that don't go for the green in two will have a short iron shot. When you get these kinds of players with short irons to the hole, you're going to see some great shots. And, don't forget they'll be players with eagle putts. You don't see too many eagles, but there will be some chances on No. 8."

■ Eleventh hole, par-4, 410 yards: Amen corner begins here!

This is one of the more unique holes in golf. There are two landing areas, with two separate fairways. If players elect the easier tee shot down the left side of the fairway, they are left with a difficult approach angle to the green. The right fairway requires a 235-yard tee shot over wetlands.

Not much fun for the player, but plenty of excitement for the spectator.

"If you choose to spend some time on this hole, it will be very interesting to watch players make a decision on which fairway to take," Dettlaff said. "I think it will depend a lot on how the player is playing that particular day as to what fairway he will take."

Hole 16
Par 4
376 Yards

The second shortest par 4 on the course. A narrow landing area may cause some golfers to substitute another club for the driver because it is guarded by bunkers on both sides of the fairway. A short or mid iron to this green will find a bunker if hit short or a grassy swale if hit left.

Hole 17
Par 5
556 Yards

Not many golfers will be putting for eagle on this par 5. From out of a chute, the first landing area is guarded by three bunkers on the right side of the fairway. A three-acre lake guards the rest of this hole down the left side and a grassy basin is on the right. Two well-placed shots will leave you with a short iron to this bulk-headed which is completely bordered to the left by the lake and on the right by a bunker.

Hole 18
Par 4
450 Yards

A great finishing hole. A creek meanders down the left side of this the longest par 4 on the course. If the tee shot misses the fairway it will be difficult to reach the green with your second shot. A tall cottonwood tree on the right comes into play if your tee shots lands too far right. The green on this finishing hole is protected by a large bunker in the front and grassy hollows behind.

Chi Chi Rodriguez brings a large coterie of fans with him wherever he chooses to compete and they're sure to be on hand to watch him in Dearborn.

Tournament benefits from talented staff

By Jeff Barr

The TPC of Michigan is a mere infant compared to most golf course granddaddys that host PGA events, but don't think for a minute the home of the Senior Players Championship is being run by folks who are unaware of the rigors of hosting such a major tournament.

This is the second year the Ford Senior Players Championship will be held at the TPC of Michigan, but staffers at the course have years of PGA experience.

Tops on the roster of veteran tournament hosts is TPC Director of Golf Billy Dettlaff. The 43-year-old Oshkosh, Wis. native has been with the PGA for 16 years and in that time has been on the host staff of 17 PGA tournaments.

"THE KEY to hosting a good tournament is having as many experienced people on your staff as you can," Dettlaff said. "We're pretty lucky in that respect. It doesn't matter how long the golf course has been around."

"It's the people that make or break a golf tournament, and we've got a lot of quality people on our staff."

Dettlaff has golf in his blood, but didn't get involved with the PGA until he became an apprentice in 1978. His father was a golf pro, but the University of Wisconsin graduate was the managing editor for a group of suburban Chicago newspapers before turning to golf as a 28-year-old.

"I thought about it for a long time, and it's a decision I really have never regretted," Dettlaff said. "The job is easier to enjoy as the years go by. The first tournament I worked, I never saw one shot because I was working."

"Now, there is an opportunity to go out and enjoy the event a little more."

DETTLAFF MAY have a little more leisure time as director of golf during tournaments than he did as staffer 16 years ago, but the job of preparing a course for a major event like the Senior Players Championship is filled with endless details.

"We have a punch list of about 150 items that need to be taken care of prior to the tournament," Dettlaff said. "And, it is filled with things you would never think about unless you have been through it before. Anything from keeping the clubhouse stocked with hand towels to hiring 30 extra staff members to help out during the tournament."

ANOTHER IMPORTANT TPC of Michigan crew member is Traverse City native Mike Giuffre, who received a degree in Turf Management from Penn State after working for eight years at the Grand Traverse Resort's "Bear" course.

Hole 13
Par 5
506 Yards

Another birdie possibility, provided a well-struck tee shot finds the fairway. A narrow driving lane is bordered on the left by wetlands and on the right by two grassy basins. By positioning your ball from right to left off the tee you might be able to reach this green in two. The green is protected by a large mound on the left, which also hides the back left portion of the green.

Hole 14
Par 4
455 Yards

The most challenging hole on the course and its signature. The entire left side of the fairway, from tee to green, is bordered by wetlands. The hole doglegs left and a tee shot should be hit from right to left and must carry the wetlands to an elevated fairway. This hole has the largest green on the course and it is guarded by a grassy swale back left. The approach shot is also hit over wetlands. A bail-out area has been placed short of this green on the right side of the fairway and should be used if you are not pleased with your drive.

Hole 15
Par 3
192 Yards

Stadium golf at its finest! This average-length par 3 is heavily protected by bunkers. The back portion of the green is hidden behind a huge mound with a bun-

How much did you lose last year on nondeductible interest?

7.90% APR.* FIXED RATE

Maybe you've noticed it while getting your taxes ready. All the interest you've paid on consumer loans that's not deductible.

Well, now's the time to think of a strategy for next year's taxes. And consider borrowing against the equity in your home.

Sharon Marie May, owner of Pizzutti's of Westland died June 18 during surgery at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia.

May, who was a 42-year-old Westland resident, was admitted to the hospital to have some water drained from her shoulder when doctors found an aneurism in her heart, her niece, Bernadett Prevo, said. May died of heart failure during surgery, Prevo said.

May had worked at Pizzutti's before buying the restaurant about six years ago. Her husband, Larry Earl May, co-owned the restaurant.

During her last years, May suffered from kidney disease and was going through dialysis. Her family is accepting donations for the kidney foundation at Pizzutti's.

Funeral services were Wednesday at St. Simon and Jude Catholic Church in Westland.

May is survived by husband; a son, David May; her parents Ed and Virginia Baran; a brother, Randy Baran; a sister, Sande Prevo; five nieces, and two nephews.

Officials schedule assessment hearing

Canton Township officials are planning an open public hearing Tuesday to discuss property assessment procedures and future land assessment alternatives. Township Assessor Glenn Shaw, along with administration officials, will be available to outline assessment policy and answer resident questions.

Canton property owners, primarily western township farmers, have been hit with triple-digit assessment figures this year topping, in some cases, 900 percent.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. in Township Hall. Telephone 397-5380 for details.

County announces food program

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara recently announced that the county health department is offering the Summer Food Service program again for local children at 41 locations this summer.

The program provides free nutritious lunches in areas where most children receive free or reduced price school meals during the school year.

The Summer Food Service program is provided for all children through the age of 18, free of charge and regardless of income.

It began this week and will operate five or six days a week throughout the summer.

Investigators probe area animal deaths

Are teens in Wayne and Inkster responsible for the slaughter of dogs by placing them on railroad tracks?

That is a question officials from the Michigan Anti-Cruelty Society in Westland and area police in Wayne and Inkster want answered.

On Wednesday, the high-speed Swedish train, the X-2000 on loan to Amtrak, plowed into a dog, traveling at speeds in excess of 150 miles per hour. Police said that the animal had been tied to the track. The incident occurred on a stretch of track between Middlebelt Road and Inkster in the city of Inkster.

"The dog was killed when the new electric train was being demonstrated, and with several media officials aboard," said Mike Killian, director of the Michigan Anti-Cruelty Society (MASC).

Killian went on to say that the Amtrak engineer seated in the train's cockpit saw the dog on the tracks and sounded the train whistle. The dog wasn't able to move from the tracks.

"The train did not have enough time to stop," Killian said. "The dog was later found tied to the tracks with a thin piece of rope."

Killian said that MASC officials are conducting a probe of the latest incident. Reportedly, there have been at least two other animals killed in similar fashion.

Subsequently, Amtrak as well as Conrail police officials said that they will conduct investigations. The two organizations police the railways for the leading passenger and freight carriers in the nation.

Pigging out Pet hams it up for area visitors

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Although Cynthia Goodlow was always familiar with the term "pigging out," it took a visit from Olivia to make her understand what the saying really means.

"She eats everything, and she eats all the time," said Goodlow, describing the culinary preferences of Olivia, a four-month-old pot-bellied pig. "Her favorite treat is grapes, but she'll eat almost anything - even biting through paper bags to get at it."

Olivia is a regular Saturday afternoon visitor to Goody's Westland Dog Food in Wayne, where her unofficial fan club members gather to see her "ham it up."

"Olivia has a loyal following, and they visit her every Saturday between noon and 3 p.m.," Goodlow said. "They bring grapes and raisins for her, and watch her antics. Some of her fans even climb into the pen with her."

At first, Goodlow allowed Olivia to wander through the pet shop during her Saturday visits, but the pot-bellied pig's dietary habits put a halt to her freedom.

"She used to just wander around the store, but one day she spied the bags of dog food, and it took her about 10 seconds to rip into eight 40-pound bags of dog food," Goodlow said. "From then on, we kept her in a pen during her visits."

Goodlow said Olivia knows what "no" means, but is inclined to be pig-headed about obeying the command at times.

Olivia's regular diet consists of a half-cup of pellets, especially made for pot-bellied pigs, plus "lots of fruits and vegetable."

"She loves all kinds of fruits, especially watermelons, oranges, grapes and raisins, and she also eats green beans, broccoli and other vegetables," Goodlow said. "Olivia also has been known to gobble up a cake or two when no one was watching."

At present, Olivia weighs 16 pounds, and may double her size when she reaches her maximum growth.

"Pot-bellied pigs are clean, don't smell and have no fleas," said Goodlow. "They are very trainable. They can do anything that a dog can do. Olivia sits when she wants a treat and can climb up and down stairs - something that's not easy for pigs."

She is house-broken, and quickly catches on to tricks, according to Goodlow.

"She's so funny that she keeps us laughing all the while she's here. Olivia's really a ham."

Boat collision injures 2 on Belleville Lake

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A race between a speed boat and jet ski apparently contributed to a Wednesday night collision on Belleville Lake that injured two women.

Both victims were transported to St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor, for treatment. The women, Shirley Napier, 44, and Doris Kutz, 52, both of Belleville, were released by press time.

The owner of the boat, Nancy Kirchner, deputy clerk of Sumpter Township, and a fourth woman passenger, Pat Gary, were not injured.

"The four of us are long-time friends, and we had gotten together to talk about our families and chat about what has happened since the last time we were all together," said Kirchner. "It was unexpected. None of us saw it coming. We had been floating along for about an hour-and-one-half when it happened. I was aware that there was a lot of traffic on the lake, so I was going very slowly. We had planned to go under the (Denton) bridge to the other part of the lake when it happened."

Kirchner said she heard a crash and looked to her left.

"I saw a hole in the boat and glass all over. The seats on the left were gone and so were Doris and Shirley who had been sitting there. At first, I thought they were dead, but then I saw their heads come to the surface," said Kirchner.

At 7:45 p.m. June 23, Van Buren Township Police received an Emergency 911 call informing them of a boat collision on the lake near the Denton Road bridge. The Wayne County Sheriff's Marine Patrol and Van Buren Township Fire Department also responded to the emergency.

Upon arriving on the scene, emergency crews discovered that two women has been thrown into the water as a result of the collision.

According to the police report, witnesses stated that a green 1971 Wriedt speed boat, operated by Michael Everett Simpson, 30, of Romulus, and a jet ski, operated by Robert Hink of Belleville, had just come under the Denton Road bridge westbound and appeared to have started to race when the speed boat went out of control striking a white Four Winns pleasure boat driven by Kirchner.

Napier and Kutz, both of Belleville, were thrown from the pleasure boat into the water. Both victims were rescued by citizens and members of the Van Buren Public Safety Department and then transported to the hospital for treatment.

According to the police, there is no evidence that alcohol is involved in the incident.

"Doris was the most seriously injured in the accident. She has broken ribs and is badly bruised. Shirley has deep bruises on her arms and neck. Both of them are very sore, but, fortunately, did not suffer any life-threatening injuries," she said.

"I don't know why anyone would attempt to race with so much traffic on the lake. The speeding has got to stop," Kirchner said. "I'm very upset. People go out on the lake to relax and enjoy themselves. They shouldn't have to worry

Vacationing family killed

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER

A 6-year-old boy and his parents were killed Thursday near Flint when a van, headed the wrong way on northbound Interstate-75, struck their car.

Killed instantly in the crash were Scott Hunley, 30, his wife, Jacquelin, 29, and their son, Brett, who had just completed kindergarten at Rawsonville Elementary School in the Van Buren School District.

Also killed in the crash was the van driver, Chris Barkey, 31, a cameraman for WSMH-TV in Flint. Preliminary reports indicate that Barkey, a diabetic, either entered the freeway from an off ramp or crossed the median to the northbound side of the highway prior to the accident.

"Everyone here is shocked. Some of us saw television reports of the accident, but we had no idea the Hunleys were involved in it. We have all been in a state of shock after we learned they were killed in the accident," said Karen Monte, a secretary at Rawsonville Elementary School. "The ironic part of it is that the Hunleys left for their vacation a day early to avoid the heavy weekend traffic. They were supposed to leave today (Friday)."

Monte said their decision to avoid heavy traffic by leaving early for their northern Michigan trip was indicative of their cautious natures.

"They were a very close-knit family, and wonderful people. Brett was an only child, and his parents participated in school activities. They were very involved with the schools and accompanied the students on field trips last semester," Monte said.

Man sentenced to probation in shooting of local student

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

The 28-year-old man found guilty of shooting a 16-year-old student will serve 100 hours of community service and two years probation as punishment for the crime.

Tony Bouie of Wayne was found guilty of discharging a weapon causing injury and felony firearm before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Dalton Roberson June 21.

Bouie shot Shawn Nepsey near Franklin Junior High School last December as a result of an argument, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"The suspect was walking home from Brush Street from a group home where he works when he heard what he thought were racial remarks," Drews said.

Bouie is black and Nepsey is white. Nepsey, a Wayne Memorial High School student, was shot by a small caliber gun in the upper arm at Howe Road near Annapolis.

Nepsey allegedly responded to an argument between two female students outside of the junior high school, according to Gary Dell, assistant to the superintendent of Wayne-Westland schools.

The victim's mother, Kathleen Nepsey, previously informed the Associated Newspapers that she believed the charges were too lenient.

"I just feel that he (Tony Bouie) should be put in prison for what he had done," Kathleen Nepsey said. "I believe the charges should have been assault with intent to murder."

"It doesn't make sense that he will walk regardless of what happened to my son."

Nepsey's mother said her son, on a constant basis, would go down to the school "to meet a girl with a buddy."

"On that day she was in front of the school with another boy," Nepsey said. "He called her names. She called him a 'nigger.'"

"My son then told the girl that she shouldn't call him a 'nigger.' My son was defending the black kid. At that time, Tony Bouie walked by. My son turned and said 'no offense.'"

Nepsey said her son started to explain to Bouie the discussion that occurred, but then she said Bouie started to take a swing at her son.

"My son took a few steps back, and then he said Tony Bouie put down a duffel bag he was holding," Nepsey said. "Within a matter of seconds, my son said Tony Bouie was pointing a gun at him that he retrieved from his duffel bag."

Nepsey said all her son thought at that point was not to turn around because he didn't want to get shot in the back.

"They argued for a few minutes, and then my son said Tony Bouie pointed the gun and shot him," Nepsey said. "Tony Bouie then walked away."

The bullet struck Nepsey near his heart and then turned and lodged in his back, according to his mother.

"The bullet was 4 inches from his heart," Nepsey said. "Luckily it did take a turn or who knows what would have happened."

Nepsey was rushed to Annapolis Hospital at 3:30 p.m. Dec. 4 and then sent to the University of Michigan Hospital. "The impact of the bullet had severed the nerves," Nepsey said. "They didn't want to take the bullet out because they are afraid there would be extensive nerve damage."

"At first he couldn't move his left hand. He's now getting some movement back."

Nepsey enjoyed wrestling, baseball and football. He was hoping for a football scholarship when he graduated from high school.

"He mentally has had a difficult time with this," Nepsey said. "His grades went down due to time out of school and having to keep going back to the hospital."

"He is under counseling because of all of this, and somehow I don't feel justice has served on his behalf at all. You keep asking yourself why? Why would a 28-year-old man purposely go out of his way to shoot someone?"

Charges reduced in bonfire attack

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The criminal charge against Romulus teenager Mike Tomason, who is accused of dropping a girl into a bonfire, was downgraded by 34th District Court Judge William Szlinis Wednesday after the victim became hazy about the events leading up to the burn incident.

The victim, Shannon Morris, 17, also of Romulus, reportedly had claimed earlier that Tomason had dropped her into the fire, when she refused to have sex with him or his friends.

But when she was questioned by Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Curtis Smith on Wednesday, Morris claimed Tomason never said a word to her before dropping her in the fire.

Morris could only recall that another male at Tomason's 18th birthday party, had said "drop her in the fire."

After Morris gave police her initial story of the bonfire incident while undergoing treatment for third degree burns at Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti, Tomason was charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

When he was arraigned before Judge Henry Zaborowski bail was set at $50,000 cash bond.

But when the state only put Morris on as a witness, the defense claimed that Szlinis would be "remiss" if he bound Tomason over on the original charge, when the testimony by the only witness was so limited.

Szlinis lowered the charge to felonious assault, which drops the maximum prison time if Tomason is convicted from 10 years to four years.

The pre-trial hearing is slated for 9 a.m. July 7 at the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice in Detroit. Tomason's bail was continued.

Kirchner said she hopes their accident will serve to point out the need for increased policing of the lake.

"Something has to be done about speeding ski jets and jet boats," Kirchner said. "I think God that my friends weren't killed. I also want to thank everyone who helped us, especially the young man who helped Doris and the gentleman and his family who stayed with me and allowed me to use the phone on their boat."

The boat owner stated that she was upset regarding the incident.

"There was no reason for the accident. It was an act of negligence and wanton endangerment," said Kirchner. "I hope that this will prompt a crackdown on speeders and unsafe boat operators on Belleville Lake."

Killian believes that teens residing in the cities of Wayne and Inkster may be responsible for the slaughter of the animals.

"This kind of situation happens from time to time and it usually involved juveniles," Killian said. "This is uncalled for, and we're going to conduct an investigation to find these individuals who are committing these cruel and senseless acts."

Amtrak - the National Railroad Passenger Corporation - was testing the Swedish high-speed train on local and area tracks and officials had invited the media and local VIPs along for the inaugural ride.

The X-2000 test run began in Detroit, ran through the cities of Dearborn, Inkster, Wayne, Ann Arbor, Jackson and Battle Creek. Inkster Mayor Edward Bivens Jr. joined the group at Ann Arbor on their return trip.

"We boarded in Ann Arbor and it was a very pleasant ride," Bivens said. "And there didn't seem to be anything unusual about the trip."

Conrail police captain John Harris said that his department has not received any reports of dogs tied to the tracks.

"I am not saying that it didn't happen," Harris said, "but we haven't received any kind of reports. If it's true, someone out there is very sick."

Harris urged residents who spot anyone tampering with the railroad to contact his office at 323-5292.

An Amtrak spokesperson in Washington D.C. on Friday said that officials have interviewed X-2000 crew members, and they believe that the dog may not have been deliberately tied to the track.

"Indeed there was an incident that involved the X-2000 which resulted in the death of a dog," said Cliff Black, from the Amtrak public affairs office. "However, after interviews with crew members, we don't believe that the dog was tied down. Instead, we believe the dog may have broken loose from its owner and as it attempted to cross the track, the dog's chain got entangled in its own leash."

Sometimes, she races around and barks like a dog. It's hilarious," said Goodlow.

Olivia is a rare pet in western Wayne County, but the popularity of pot-bellied pigs as house pets is growing.

"They are very big on the West Coast. If you don't have a pot-bellied pig as a pet, you just aren't 'in.' Even Delta Burke had a pig on Designing Women," said Goodlow. "Because of restrictions banning farm animals in many communities, there has been some controversy about keeping pot-bellied pigs. Now, officials are realizing that there is a big difference between a 40-pound pet and a 1,000-pound farm animal, and they are slowly changing their rules."

"Two years ago, the price of a pot-bellied pig was $2,000, but today they cost between $200 and $300 - less than one might pay for a registered

Visitors encounter underwater adventure in Ohio theme park

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

If all you know about sharks is what you learned by viewing Jaws, you're in for a surprise at Sea World.

Several varieties of sharks seemingly live in peaceful co-existence with small, tropical fish in a 40-foot-wide, 17-foot-deep salt water pool in the Shark Encounter exhibit at the theme park.

Visitors can view the bull, sandtiger, lemon, brown and nurse sharks face-to-face through the five-inch thick acrylic panels that separate them from the deep-water denizens.

And, why to the sharks - some measuring eight-feet-long, swim past the smaller fish with not even a tiny nibble? According to the curator, the sharks only seem to prey on sick or wounded fish, which emit some type of signal that makes them vulnerable to the sharks. Another reason, the curator volunteered, is that the sharks are well fed.

Upon entering the Shark Encounter, a short video introduces visitors to the various types of sharks and dispels the myths surrounding the ominous ocean animals. A moving walkway takes visitors slowly past the 315,000-gallon shark pool and allows them a "close encounter" with the mysterious creatures.

"Sharks are generally regarded with a mix of fear and fascination. In fact, most of the 350 species of sharks in the world are harmless. Man, through pollution, habitat destruction and over fishing, has caused more problems for sharks than vice versa," said Pete Mohan, curator of fish for Sea World of Ohio.

He noted that sharks and their ancestors have existed relatively unchanged since the Devonian period, known as the Age of Fishes, 350 million years ago.

A visit to Sea World is not complete without a visit to Shamu Stadium to view the killer whales, Shamu and Namu, and the dolphins in a series of jumps and dives guaranteed to splash the first several rows in the stands.

Featured in the Sea Lion and Otter Stadium are sea lions, Clyde and Seamore, plus Pacific walrus and otters. For those who feel the urge to get closer to the seal and sea lion community, there are more than 20 California sea lions and harbor seals in the Seal and Sea Lion Community Pool.

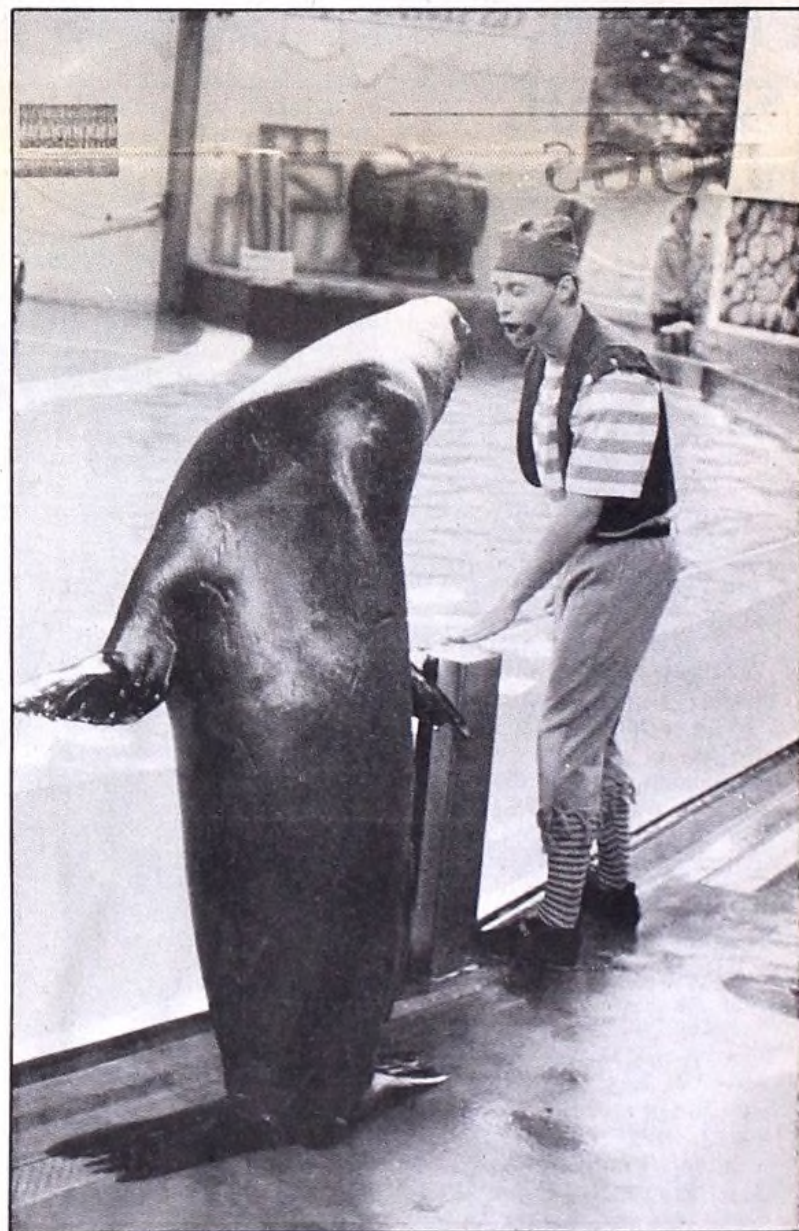

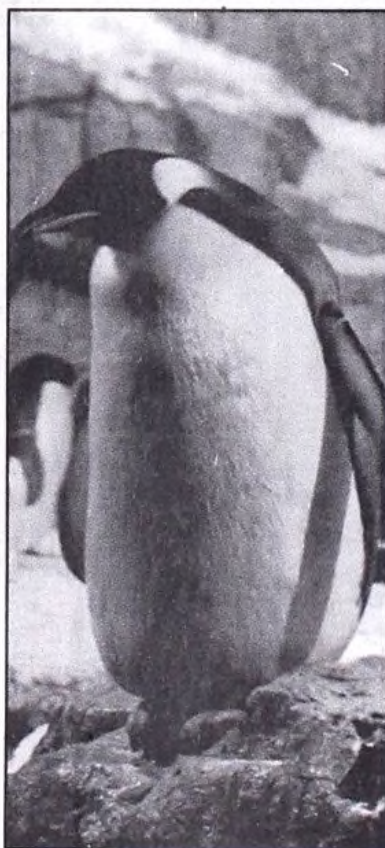

Visitors who wish a "cool" experience, may visit the Penguin Encounter where more than 100 of the flightless birds can be viewed in a simulated natural habitat of Antarctic snowfalls, freezing temperatures and a 45,000-gallon icy sea pool. A moving walkway allows visitors to view the emperor, macaroni, chinstrap and Adelie penguins and observe their antics.

Also featured at the park, located near Aurora, Ohio, is the World of the Sea Aquarium, Birds of the World Aviary, Shamu's Happy Harbour playground and the Nautilus Theater.

The park may be reached via Interstate-75 to the Ohio Turnpike 80-90. Visitors can follow signs from Exit 13 to the park.

Greenfield Village Salute to American will launch area-wide summer events

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Detroit Tigers announcer Ernie Harwell will narrate Casey at the Bat on July 3 and 4 when the Detroit Symphony Orchestra presents its pop concert, A Salute to America at Greenfield Village.

Fourth of July holiday weekend will feature tunes by John Philip Sousa, Stephen Foster and other American composers and end with a fireworks finale.

Concert tickets are available at $15 for adults and $7 for children, 5-12. The village will re-open for pre-concert activities at 7 p.m. and the concert will begin at 8:30 p.m.

During the daytime hours on the holiday weekend, visitors to Greenfield Village may view the Pageant of Power, an exhibit of historic machines that helped Americans "declare independence from drudgery." The labor-saving devices include historic engines, farm equipment and other items plus displays and demonstrations of solar, electric and alternate-fuel vehicles for the future.

On the July 10 and 11 weekend, visitors can gain a glimpse of 18th century family life at the Colonial Life Festival. Military encampments, battlefield demonstrations and rousing fife and drum corps music will be featured.

Summer activities extend through Aug. 22 at Greenfield Village, featuring historic innovators, musicians and hands-on activities. Children can play with toys that inspired the Wright brothers and explore inventions and discoveries with one of Mr. Wizard's assistants. Live performances of plays, music and storytelling round out the day-long festivities.

Other special summer events at Greenfield Village are:

- 6:30 p.m. July 15, Eagle Tavern Dinner, which features chicken pie and roast rib of beef in a 19th-century atmosphere, $23.50 per person, including entertainment, tax and gratuity.

- July 24 and 25, A Taste of History, featuring cooking demonstrations and hands-on activities. A pie-eating contest and meeting with Elsie the Borden cow are also featured for youngsters.

- Saturdays from July 24 through Aug. 21, 19th Century Baseball, with the Lah-De-Dahs, named for an 1880s team, taking to the field on the Village Green

- Through Sept. 7, Summer in Greenfield Village, featuring games for children on the village green and hands-on activities at several sites.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Admission is $11.50 for adults; $10.50 for senior citizens, 62 and older, and $5.75 for youth, ages 5-12.

Greenfield Village is located at Oakwood Boulevard and Village Road in Dearborn, west of the Southfield Freeway and south of Michigan Avenue.

Summertime, and the livin' is easy...

After a long Michigan winter and a dreary spring, it's time to map out plans to enjoy every beam of sunshine and every degree of warmth that the summer offers.

It's time to schedule a full summer of traveling, boating, swimming, golfing, biking, hiking and picnicking with a lot of breaks in between for relaxing in a hammock or lounging on the beach. Make plans to attend outdoor events, community festivals and backyard barbecues during the weeks to come, so that when the days shorten and the temperatures dip in the early autumn, you can look back on a fun-filled summer. The red-hot memories can extend some warmth through the winter and help to bridge the long, cold spell until summer returns next year.

Here's some ideas for summer fun when you're asked, "What's there to do?":

- Summer Celebrations: July 1 through Aug. 22, Greenfield Village Summer Festival; July 3, Luna Pier Freedom Fest; July 4, Gibraltar Independence Day Festival, and Wayne County Fair, Belleville, Aug. 10 to 14
- Fireworks: July 1, Freedom Festival, Hart Plaza in Detroit; July 2, Ypsilanti Township, Ford Lake Park, $5 per vehicle; July 3, Van Buren Township Fireworks, Interstate-94 Service Drive between Belleville and Rawsonville roads; July 3, Camp Dearborn in Milford, $6 for non-residents; July 4, Chelsea Fireworks, fairgrounds at M-52 and Old U.S.-12; Dearborn Heights Fireworks, Canfield Community Center. (All displays begin at approximately 10 or 10:15 p.m.)

- Water parks: Open through Labor Day, Rolling Hills Water Park, Washtenaw County, featuring a wave pool, water slides, waterfalls and kids' pool. Also a wave pool at Erie Park plus a pool and carpeted deck and concession building.
- Boblo: Open 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily with hourly departures from Gibraltar. Featuring the Nightmare, the Sky Tower, the Screamer and the Big Wheel rides plus a petting farm, kids' rides and an arcade.
- Toronto: Open through July

4, 7th annual Downtown Jazz Extravaganza and Caribbean, a Caribbean celebration, from July 19 to Aug. 2. The hit play, Miss Saigon is on stage at the Princess of Wales Theater.

- Bring Europe here: Host a French, Spanish or German student in your home this summer through the NACET Cultural Exchanges.
- Theme parks: Visit Sea World, Cedar Point, Disney World or other amusement park.
- Musical events: Attend free summer concerts at Goudy Park in Wayne, Westland parks, and Victory Park in Belleville.
- Community theater: The comedy, Bedside Manners will be staged Aug. 20-22 at Belleville High School auditorium.

In Westland

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

In Westland, the annual Festival will keep you entertained this fourth of July weekend with several events, shows and various activities.

The festival, which begins Wednesday, will kick off with a parade from 7 to 8 p.m. ending up in front of Westland City Hall on Ford Road.

Activities planned for Thursday and Friday activities include entertainment, dancing and music.

The annual pancake breakfast is planned for Saturday and Sunday mornings. Saturday events include the water-ballooning contest and pie eating contest. Sunday events include both 5 and 1-mile runs, a baby and toddler contest, a dog and cat contest, an ice cream eating contest, a kiddie tractor pull, beer belly contest and best moustache contest.

The festival will officially end Sunday night with a fireworks display beginning at 10 p.m. However, the carnival will remain open Monday.

In Canton Township

Squeezed between two busy weekends in the Plymouth-Canton area is the Jaycees Fourth of July parade in downtown Plymouth.

Jaycee President Don McDurmon said a traditional 1 p.m. Main Street parade will feature Gov. John Engler, the East Middle School band, pom-pom squads from both Salem and Canton high schools, bicyclists, Girl and Boy Scout troops and host of local dignitaries, veterans and students, McDurmon said.

A 25-minute fireworks display is scheduled following sunset in the Plymouth and Haggerty roads vicinity.

"For as long as I've lived in the (Plymouth-Canton) area," McDurmon added, "we've had a downtown parade. We're the tradition."

In Van Buren Township

Next weekend, a variety of activities will spark the holiday weekend for area residents.

Van Buren Township

On July 3, Van Buren Township will sponsor Family Day in the Park. Activities include an 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. pancake breakfast, car show, swap meet, bingo, Las Vegas tent, craft show, flea market, Business Exposition, food and games. The events will end at 7 p.m. Fireworks are slated at 10 p.m. at Beck Road and Interstate-94.

CITY OF WAYNE
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARINGS

The City of Wayne Planning Commission will hold public hearings on Tuesday, July 13, 1993 at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers of City Hall, 3355 South Wayne Road, to consider the following:

- amending Chapter 1230.04 of the Planning and Zoning Ordinance regarding definitions; and
- amending the Planning and Zoning Ordinance regarding the inclusion of Chapter 1279, concerning fences.

Following the public hearings, recommendations will be made to the City Council for their consideration. You are invited to attend and participate.

Softball, basketball highlight holiday

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Softball and basketball tournaments will precede the late night fireworks at Elmer Johnson Park on in Romulus on the Fourth of July.

City Recreation Activity Director Rick Doane said the softball tournament featuring 10-player teams will begin at 10 a.m.

All sign-ups and $100 team deposits must be made by no later than 8 a.m. that day, Doane said. All players must be 18 years or older.

The winning team members will be presented with T-shirts honoring them as 1993 softball champs.

Later that morning, a three-on-three basketball competition will begin with an 11:30 a.m. check-in time period. The teams can be all male, female or mixed, Doane said, and will be divided into two categories, beginners and advanced.

The tournament will be either single or double elimination, depending on the number of teams competing that day, Doane explained.

Picnics and barbecues will continue at the park all day, he forecast, with 15 permanent tables and six to eight large barbecue grills available there. Residents and visitors are free to bring their own cooking equipment, tables and chairs, he said.

Alcohol will be allowed, Doane said, but no beer kegs will be permitted.

Family pets also will be allowed, but must be kept on leashes.

The highlight of the July 4th weekend will be the free fireworks show that will begin at approximately 10 p.m. Visitors are urged to bring their own chairs or blankets for that event, Doane said, or they may sit on their vehicles.

The fireworks are expected to last about 20-30 minutes.

The rain date for the fireworks will be July 5.

A recent survey found people more likely to buy a large screen TV to watch certain sports.

Taste of Belleville

Taste of Belleville coordinator Ron Vesche pins a button on his wife, Jane. The event is one of a series of special downtown activities sponsored by the Central Business Community. The next events will be Belleville Lake Day and Fabulous '50s Day.

Food sampling draws crowd

When Belleville area restaurants brought samples of their specialties to the Taste of Belleville, it was a culinary treat for visitors to the downtown site.

A sample of this, a nibble of that - and a bit more of both was the goal of those who lined up for samples at the Fourth Street Mall in downtown Belleville for the annual event on Thursday evening.

"We had approximately 200 people here, and everyone seemed pleased with the array of food," said Ron Vesche, who coordinated the event for the Central Business Community. "We had everything from appetizers and chip-and-dips to corned beef sandwiches, chicken, hot dogs and ethnic foods. A 12-foot-long submarine sandwich, stuffed grape leaves and mini-tacos also were served. For dessert, there were cakes, doughnuts and ice cream cones. We're sure that no one went away hungry - or went home to a big meal afterward."

Vesche said the annual event was established to showcase the local restaurants and food businesses and allow area residents to sample the specialties from each.

During the dinner hour, the Snowy River Band played country-style music for the diners seated around the mall.

Participating in the event were Maria's Bakery, Mom's Chicken & Ribs, A & W Restaurant, Cottage Inn Pizza, Sammy's Old Delicatessen, Hayward's Party Shoppe, Donut Town, Dos Pesos, 404 Main and McDonald's of Belleville Road.

Adults purchased buttons stating, "Taste of Belleville - 1993," for $5 to enable them to sample the treats. Senior citizens and children were served at $2 each.

Jennifer Cornell offers stuffed grape leaves, a specialty of 404 Main, to tasters.

Wayne-Westland schools to opt for pay-to-play plan

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Although the questions of seeking a millage increase or approving a pay-to-play program seems like an either/or situation, Wayne-Westland school board members recommended both plans recently.

Six board trustees, with one abstention by trustee Fred Warmbier, agreed to a proposal made by Superintendent of Wayne Westland Schools Dr. Larry Thomas to seek a millage increase in the fall, rather than the summer, and immediately establish a task force to find an equitable way to allow all students to participate in pay-to-play.

Although some board members expressed concern about delaying the millage request until fall, they agreed to the delay in light of a lack of staffing to aid election efforts during the summer months.

Thomas was not in favor of the pay-to-play initiative, but said he wanted to do what's best for the community.

"I am opposed to pay-to-play -- it discriminates," Thomas said.

However, Thomas said he would support the program if a task force can find a way to provide a non-discriminatory pay-to-play and request a millage increase in the fall.

Thomas said, at this point, the total cost of pay-to-play for high school and junior high students would be approximately $360 per student. However, Chief Fiscal Officer Randy Liepa said the task force will look at different ways of cutting down the cost. Liepa also said gate ticket money, which is being put back into the general fund, would be directed to the individual schools if pay-to-play is implemented.

Some residents and board members were upset with the decision to consider pay-to-play as a separate issue. They were concerned about other programs, such as debate club, and other educational clubs and organizations.

"We should be looking at the total package -- not just pay-to-play," Trustee Fred Warmbier said.

"If you support pay-to-play and ask for a millage, it will fail," Thomas Deschaine, a Wayne-Westland teacher said.

Westland resident Lorrie Plate said she is looking forward to her future trip to Haiti where she will be assisting those less fortunate.

Dream of a lifetime

Ordainment is answer to local woman's prayers

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

It's the 1990s. The decade where women have climbed straight up the ladder of success in the corporate world. No one is surprised to find that the owner of a business is a woman or that there is a woman on the Supreme Court.

Some people, however, are still a bit surprised by Lorrie Plate, a Westland woman who recently realized a lifelong dream when she was ordained a deacon in the Methodist faith.

Plate was received as a probationary member of the Detroit Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church June 9. She was ordained by Bishop Donald Ott.

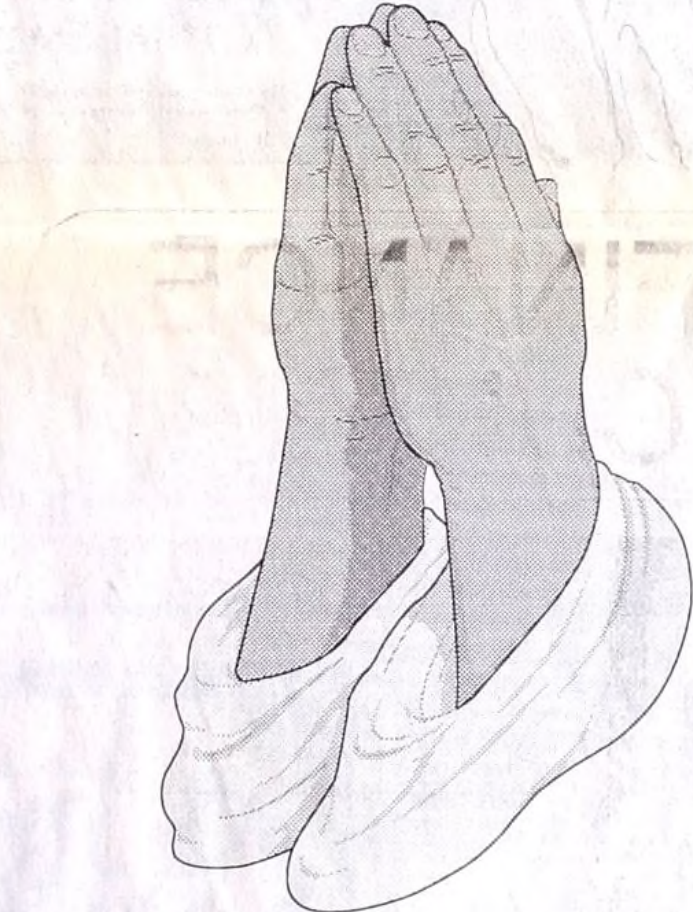

She is a member of the First United Methodist Church in Wayne.

"I've always wanted to go into ordained ministry, probably since I've been about 13 or 14 years old," Plate said. "Unfortunately I wasn't encouraged in the religion I grew up in, so I changed denominations just within the last five years to pursue that."

Plate was raised in the Baptist faith of her parents in Adrian, Mich. Her mother was Lutheran and father was Baptist.

"Both religions really don't encourage women to go into ordained ministry which is why I changed my denomination," Plate said.

The process to become a deacon is quite lengthy. The first step involves presenting your intention to your pastor, according to Plate.

"You tell the pastor that this is the direction you would like to go," Plate said. "From there they write a letter to the district superintendent (DS) who is in charge of a group of churches in the area."

"The DS will assign you to another pastor outside of your church to work with, and that's called a supervising pastor."

There is a guide book the candidate must follow and questions that have to be answered regarding the intentions of the individual, according to Plate.

"It can be as long a process as you want," Plate said. "When you're ready, and you feel that this is what you want to do, then the staff parish of your local church recommends you."

"They actually take a vote."

Once they've recommended you, then you go before a district board. If they see you have promise, then they will certify you."

The certification process has to be done every year, according to Plate. The local church in the district has to reaffirm the individual.

"When you are ready to be ordained, then you go before the Board of Ordained Ministry, and that's for the entire conference," Plate said. "You have to submit a stack of written papers. You have to answer questions. I was in a session where I answered questions for two hours."

"It's not that you need to have the right answers, it's more that you can defend your belief."

A psychological and medical test also has to be completed. References are taken, and two years of a masters in divinity must be completed.

"I have one more year to go," Plate said. "After all that, then they vote. After they decide to ordain you, then you are no longer a member of your church. You are a member of the conference."

A deacon can be appointed to any location, according to Plate. As a deacon, her role will be somewhat like an apprentice pastor.

"You're on probation as to whether you will be effective or if you are going to be able to carry out the duties as a pastor," Plate said. "You have to be under appointment for two years before you can apply for

Plate's future goal is to perfect her preaching.

"At this point I can see myself working at local churches as a pastor," Plate said. "I would like to perfect my preaching. I like and enjoy public speaking, and it's something I would like to do more of in the future."

Her long term goal is "to be seen as an individual who is faithful to what she believes is her call in life."

Next January, Plate will be going to Haiti where she will be working with those less fortunate.

Plate and her husband John Orefice are the parents of three children: John, Tony and Joe.

She presently is working at the Mt. Olivet Methodist Church in Dearborn.

Actress launches directing career with stand-up comedy

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

You will most likely remember her as the twin cousin of Jackie on the television series 227.

This weekend actress/comedienne/theatrical director Kym Whitley dazzled audiences at the Fisher Theater with her exceptional wit and talent in the unique production of Comedy N The Hood.

Comedy is directed by Cepheus Jaxon and Whitley. Comedians posing as street thugs shoot one-liners in place of guns in a hysterical cross-fire of stand up comedy.

Whitley, who is originally from Cleveland, Ohio, said she always wanted to be an actress.

"I just didn't think I could be one until after I graduated from college," Whitley said. "At first my dad wasn't in favor of it because you didn't make much money, and there weren't many opportunities. But, after I graduated from college, and he realized that acting was what I really wanted to do, then he supported my decision."

Whitley is a graduate of Fisk University. Her career began with a visit to Los Angeles to see a taping of Soul Train with friend, Gerald Levert of the group Levert.

Whitley's resemblance to the 227 co-star caused a disturbance at Soul Train. Two days later, she was invited to the set of 227 where her resemblance caused more inquiries.

"A year after I was at Soul Train I got a call to be part of an episode of 227 as Sandra Clark's (Jackee's) twin cousin," Whitley said. "It was a wonderful experience. I would say it definitely started my acting career."

Whitley later filmed an NBC movie of the week Double Your Pleasure special as Jackee's twin sister.

Other shows she has appeared on included: American Music Award, MTV Awards, Soul Train Awards and A Tribute to Elizabeth Taylor.

"I think I've enjoyed the traveling the most over the years," Whitley said. "I've also met a lot of wonderful people."

Whitley said the experience to create the Comedy production has been the most memorable.

"I like touring the various states," Whitley said. "We've been on tour with this production since last October, and we're hoping to continue visiting the various states until we've been to all of them."

Whitley has served as an assistant to Arsenio Hall and Stevie Wonder. She found working behind the scenes was intriguing and exciting, but she was interested in how a show was put together from start to finish.

The doors opened to movies and plays. Her fondest memory was when she auditioned for Shelly Garrett's Beauty Shop.

"I don't think it was my cold reading or actual audition that got me that role, but the excitement in my eyes to learn and become a part of such a hilarious production," Whitley said.

After touring for almost two years with Beauty Shop as Sister Rosemary, Garrett promoted Whitley to director of his newest hit Living Room.

"In the future I hope to direct my own situation comedy series or movie," Whitley said. "I love writing and I enjoy movies. I love acting because I like being something that I'm not. I enjoy fantasizing."
